Title: 2002 WINTER OLYMPIC GAMES

Synopsis: To review proposed process for handling DOD requests.

Reference: Attorney General Certification Issues in support of captioned event. Process for handling requests for DOD Support.

Details: On 7/8/99, I received a copy of the proposed process for Handling Requests for DOD Support (attached proposal A). Upon review of this proposal, it was my opinion that this proposal was not in accordance with [redacted] and I was not satisfied with the process utilized for setting forth this proposal (no input had been solicited from the FBI.)

I contacted Lt. Col. [redacted] who is assigned to the FBI Special Events Management Unit for the Department of Army. Lt. Col. [redacted] was surprised that I had not been "in the loop" on the development of this proposal process and was in agreement with my concern. Lt. Col. [redacted] advised that he would contact [redacted] Chief, Special Events, DOD and advise him of my concerns.

On 7/10/99, I spoke with [redacted] who advised me that he had made some changes to the proposal process and would fax me a copy of the new proposal. I advised [redacted] that I would review the new proposal, discuss it with the SAC of the Salt Lake City Division and in turn, discuss this with him [redacted] during his visit on 9/14-15/99 to Salt Lake City.

Attached for your review is a copy of the most recent proposal (Proposal B). Upon review of the revised proposal, I still believe that this proposal creates unnecessary bureaucracy and is not following the procedures as set forth [redacted]

Re: 300A-SU-43750, 09/13/1999

I propose that we eliminate the process of submitting the support requests to the Federal Affairs and Military Affairs Committees. If we, as the FBI and AG's representative for DOD requests, determine that we would like a review of these requests by these committees, it would be at our discretion. Otherwise, we would forward the requests to DOD via FBIHQ/SEMU for processing. It would be beneficial to coordinate these requests locally with the DOD representative, however, there is no need for a cumbersome, complex and drawn out process as proposed by DOD.

I have discussed this with [redacted] UOPSC Executive Planning Director, and he is in full agreement. With your concurrence I will represent this position to [redacted] during his visit this week.

Dear [redacted]

I would like to extend my sincere appreciation for the assistance provided by [redacted] and [redacted] during the recent Table Top Exercises for the Utah Olympic Public Safety Command held at the FBI Academy in Quantico, Virginia, on July 27, 1999. The exercises successfully brought together the many local, state, and federal Command agencies who will be responsible for maintaining public safety during the 2002 Winter Olympic Games in Salt Lake City. The Command members who attended the Quantico meetings unanimously agreed that the exercises were extraordinarily beneficial to their planning efforts.

As you are aware, law enforcement during a special event as large as the Olympic Games is quite unique from standard day-to-day procedures. [redacted] presentation effectively highlighted many of the issues for the participants regarding command and control of various incidents. It is anticipated that the consideration and discussion about these issues will lead to effective planning and preparation for the Winter Olympics in 2002.

Dear

I would like to thank you for the assistance DTRA provided in the execution of the Table Top Exercises for the Utah Olympic Public Safety Command at Quantico, Virginia, on July 27-29, 1999. The exercises successfully brought together the many local, state, and federal agencies who will be responsible for maintaining public safety during the 2002 Winter Olympic Games in Salt Lake City. In particular, crisis response and management issues were brought to the attention of the participants. This is an extremely important step in the planning and preparation process for the successful and effective planning for the Olympic Games.

The support provided by your agency as well as the personal assistance of  and  were invaluable in the planning and implementation of this exercise. Additionally, I would like to highlight the outstanding presentation and effort by  and  of SAIC. The scenarios developed together with their professional facilitation, were extremely thought-provoking and generated excellent discussions regarding the response to a WMD or terrorist incident during the Olympics.

Dear SAC Nisley:

I would like to extend my sincere appreciation for the recent opportunity of the Utah Olympic Public Safety Command (UOPSC) to receive a formal briefing from AASAC [redacted] and a demonstration by the FBI Hostage Rescue Team on July 29, 1999.

During two days preceding the briefing, UOPSC participated in Table Top exercises involving law enforcement and crisis situations potentially occurring during the 2002 Winter Olympic Games in Salt Lake City, Utah. The briefing provided by AASAC [redacted] addressed many questions brought up during the exercises regarding the role and capabilities of HRT should an incident necessitate their involvement. AASAC [redacted] presentation was thorough and pertinent to the needs and interests of UOPSC members and was an outstanding representation of the professionalism and dedication of this fine FBI Team.

b7C

The demonstration, as well, vividly illustrated the capability of HRT in dealing with a terrorist incident. The detailed explanation of the scenario and tactical elements supporting this demonstration by SSA [redacted] was both insightful and well done. In addition, many of the HRT members were available afterwards for questions which further increased the understanding of HRT.

Again, thank you for providing the briefing and demonstration to the UOPSC. Speaking for myself and the other members of the Command, we are looking forward to working with you in the future as we prepare for the 2002 Winter Olympic Games.

Y2K Compliant Report

July 20, 1999

YEAR 2000 READINESS DISCLOSURE: All the information provided herein claim the full protection established by the 'Year 2000 Information and Readiness Disclosure Act'

For the last two years, Zions Securities Corporation (ZSC) has been auditing and compiling an inventory of all electronic equipment that utilizes a two-digit code to specify the year (e.g., 99 for 1999). As you know, the roll over from December 31, 1999 to January 1, 2000 could cause date-sensitive software and hardware to produce incorrect information. Thus, software programs could interpret the year 00 as the year 1900 not the year 2000. For that reason, correcting the two-digit date code is what is referred to as year 2000 problem (Y2K.)

Due to the variety, complexity, and intermixing of building controls systems, the Y2K compliance issues have been very challenging. This is due to vendor responsiveness, Y2K upgrades availability, leap-year bug testing, and legal issues. ZSC is taking every step within our control to insure that all systems will be ready for the next millennium. However, as an end-user, ZSC is dependant on our vendors and local distributors for information leading to the identification, update, or replacement of all non-Y2K compliant software and hardware.

A Y2K certification letter has been requested from all ZSC vendors. Y2K upgrades for hardware and software are ordered as soon as they become available from the vendors. A program has been implemented to replace all hardware that is deemed non-Y2K compliant when the vendors are no longer supporting their hardware or software.

At this time, ZSC would like to update you on the status of the Y2K compliant project. The following is a Y2K status report of the equipment serving this building.

HVAC controls:	Certified Y2K compliant by the vendor. This includes chiller, boilers, air handler, and the building automation system.
Fire system:	Certified Y2K compliant by the vendor.
Elevators:	Certified Y2K compliant by the vendor.
UPS system:	Certified Y2K compliant by the vendor.
Security system:	The security system is being upgraded at this time. Expected completion date is 9/30/1999.
Building card access:	Certified Y2K compliant by the vendor. A new system has been installed.
Parking card access:	Certified Y2K compliant by the vendor. The system has been upgraded. I AM NOT SURE IF IT IS WORKING
Utilities:	The public utilities are working on upgrading their systems to Y2K compliant. From the point of entry to the Social Hall Plaza, there is no restriction with the flow of electric power, natural gas or water.

ZSC will be conducting a Y2K test, tentatively scheduled for September 3rd through September 6th. All the equipment will be tested and verified.

Handling Olympic traffic

By GLENN MULCASTER and

KATRINA NICHOLAS in Geneva

Is it possible for 150,000 people, all jammed in to the one area say, the Olympics venue at Homebush Park to make a mobile phone call at the same time? It will be, says Telstra.

Telstra's group managing, director for Network

Technology Group, Mr Gerry'

Moriarty, demonstrated the technology behind the company's mobile phone network at the ITU's Telecom '99 conference in Geneva yesterday.

Telstra, which has designed a special Olympics telecommunications network called Millennium, expects it to cater for up to 150,000

simultaneous mobile phone calls at Olympic Park.

Mr Moriarty said it would feature the "densest" mobile communications system ever installed.

As part of the Millennium network, Telstra has installed 30,000 phone lines for the Olympic Village and the complex surrounding the main stadium. About 1.5 million kilometres of optical fibre has been laid.

Telstra will recycle spectrum and use optic fibre switching technology to ensure its Millennium Network is able to handle the traffic.

Mr Moriarty said the network would employ several new technologies, including

Brightlights, a technology developed jointly with France

Telecom which uses fibre optics to allow seamless

switching from one location to another.

Telstra will use Brightlights to spread mobile caller capacity to different parts of the network as conditions dictate.

For example, emphasis could be switched from Homebush during the day to other locations such as Circular Quay and the Rocks at night.

The technology, which does not rely on base station infrastructure, is expected to have wider use after the Games, allowing coverage from, for example, natural disaster areas much quicker than previously possible.

The demand for mobile services during the Olympics is expected to be so high that specialist digital phone rental companies from Canada and the UK will set up temporarily in Australia to cater for the influx. Telstra MobileNet dealers such as Strathfield will also offer short-term rental plans for Olympic visitors.

Visitors who bring in their own digital phones from overseas will be able to roam on Telstra's digital GSM network or the CDMA network which is being rolled out to replace the analog network.

GSM handset owners will be able to buy pre-paid calling cards to avoid expensive roaming tariffs.

However, pre-paid services may not be available for the newly commissioned CDMA network, which has yet to be rolled out in all States and territories. CDMA handsets do not use the Subscriber Identification Module (SIM) cards and the network-based pre-paid system will not be developed until the basic network is complete. However, features such as data services over CDMA will be ready before the Olympics.

SLOC Financial Records in Good Shape

Friday, October 15,
1999BY MIKE GORRELL
THE SALT LAKE TRIBUNE

An independent auditor said Thursday the Salt Lake Organizing Committee's financial records are in good shape through the fiscal year that ended June 30.

Mark Stephens from Deloitte & Touche told SLOC's board that he found "no material weakness in internal controls" in his evaluation of organizing committee financial statements for fiscal years 1998 and 1999, as well as the cumulative period since SLOC came into existence in July 1995.

He reported full cooperation from SLOC's financial staff in preparing the audit and reported that, with a few exceptions he did not consider significant, spending practices complied with policies established by the board.

In other matters, SLOC trustees authorized management to finalize contract negotiations with Sema, the European company that will integrate all aspects of the information-technology system for the 2002 Winter Olympics and three subsequent Games.

The selection of Sema, the key to a consortium that will replace IBM in running the now highly computerized Games, was announced last December by the IOC. Contracts with the individual organizing committees still must be signed, said SLOC attorney Kelly Flint.

SLOC trustees also approved a six-month severance package for Bill Wagner, the senior vice president for operations planning, whose position was eliminated as of today in an internal restructuring designed to cut labor costs by $20 million.

In addition, board members welcomed Ross Welch as SLOC's new controller, responsible for general accounting, internal and external audits and help with the budget. He replaces Michael Muir, who resigned in late summer following the departure of the chief financial officer who hired him, Brent Tanner.

Welch comes to SLOC from Ameritech Library Services in Provo.

WASHINGTON -- The former mayor of Atlanta says he is partially to blame for Salt Lake City's slippery campaign to win the 2002 Winter Games, and he would like to apologize.

Andrew Young encouraged Salt Lake's Olympic bid team to use scholarships to foster good relations with foreigners in the International Olympic Committee, a plan now characterized as bribery.

Young told The Salt Lake Tribune he discussed the idea with Olympic boosters Tom Welch, Dave Johnson, Frank Joklik and Salt Lake City Mayor Deedee Corradini. He specifically recalled a 1993 meeting in Monte Carlo where all four were present.

"Salt Lake was being criticized for its Mormon heritage and all kinds of distortions about that. I said any students you can get to come to Salt Lake, it would be good," Young said Thursday after testifying at a congressional hearing about Atlanta's Olympic bid. "If I misled them in any way, I'm sorry."

Bid committee members took the advice and added a new twist Young said he hadn't anticipated: They used bid committee funds to pay for the scholarships and offered them to the relatives of IOC members.

Joklik and Corradini were members of the bid team that initiated the tuition plan. They also sit on the board of the Salt Lake Organizing Committee, which continued to pay school bills until last fall, when Salt Lake's million-dollar lobbying scheme was exposed -- along with an entire Olympic site-selection system rife with corruption.

Corradini denied Young's statement.

"With all due respect to Andrew Young, I have absolutely zero recollection of that conversation. I remember seeing Andrew Young in Monte Carlo. He and my father are both United Church of Christ ministers. I told him how much my father admired him and had read his books. But I have zero recollection of anything else. I don't recall having that conversation. I don't remember anything about scholarships."

Joklik was in India and unable to respond to Young's comments. After the scandal broke, Joklik acknowledged the scholarships and characterized them as "humanitarian aid." He has denied prior knowledge of the lavish gifts, trips, free health care and other favors granted to IOC members during the bid years.

Atlanta, too, engaged in excessive lobbying. Olympic boosters offered trips, gifts and, yes, scholarships in hopes of getting the 1996 Summer Games.

"We did not set up any scholarship program within the Olympic committee, but we recommended students for scholarships from schools," Young said. "We were lucky there was no IOC member's child [involved], though I was trying to encourage the Nigerian ambassador's daughter to come to Atlanta to get a master's [degree]. I never thought the Olympic Committee would pay her way. We would try to find a college that had a scholarship budget. Where they were athletes, we tried to get them athletic scholarships."

Young also refused to condemn Salt Lake for giving more than $200,000 in cash to African IOC member Jean-Claude Ganga, whom he characterized as "very vulnerable." If the timing and circumstances had been different, Atlanta might have been the city Ganga turned to, Young said. And he, for one, would have found a way to help.

Like Welch, Young said his city showered IOC members "to win their hearts," not their votes.

"We were not trying to do anything that we thought was immoral or illegal. We were giving it our best shot. I think Tom Welch and Dave Johnson for sure did that," he said. "Salt Lake shouldn't be ashamed of some of the things they did. One of the things that I would be most proud of them for doing is getting the Mongolian student [Bold Magvan, son of IOC member Shagdarjav Magvan] to come to school there.

"That's good for America, and that's not something we should criticize. That's not a bribe."

IOC President Agrees to Face Critics at Congressional Hearing

Friday, October 15, 1999

BY LINDA FANTIN
THE SALT LAKE TRIBUNE

WASHINGTON -- The president of the International Olympic Committee finally will meet his congressional critics at a Dec. 15 hearing -- days after the IOC is scheduled to vote on rigorous reforms to the 105-year-old organization.

And Juan Antonio Samaranch better not show up empty-handed. For Salt Lake City's sake.

U.S. lawmakers were willing to excuse Samaranch's absence from Thursday's hearing into the Olympic bribery scandal, but say they will take legislative action to limit the IOC's fund-raising power if Samaranch doesn't deliver. Any reluctance on the IOC's part might also affect how much financial assistance Congress is willing to give Salt Lake for the 2002 Winter Games, said Rep. Fred Upton, chairman of the House commerce committee on oversight and investigations.

"The row will be a lot harder to hoe if these reforms aren't enacted. It's real simple," the Michigan Republican said when asked if assistance to Salt Lake City could be in jeopardy.

"Our job is to do whatever we can to make sure these reforms are implemented, adopted and then enforced . . . If they can't clean up their act -- and I have reason to believe they will, based on the hearing today -- but if for some reason they fail, you will see the full force on both the Republican and Democratic sides unite together to make sure that we prevent this from happening in the future."

The IOC is attempting to overhaul the way Olympic cities are chosen, after documents out of Salt Lake City, and then Atlanta, showed the booty bid cities were willing to bestow on IOC members and their relatives. Salt Lake City provided more than $1 million in cash, tuition, trips and expensive gifts. Atlanta's lobbying was not as extravagant, but no less offensive, to members of Upton's panel.

In a week marked by a military coup and failed talks of nuclear disarmament, the Olympic bribery scandal fit perfectly into the current discourse of peace, politics and prosperity. Whether an overhaul of the site-selection process will go the way of the nuclear test-ban treaty is anyone's guess.

Bill Hybl, president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, testified that the entire package of reforms had "a little better than a 50 percent chance" of being adopted. IOC members Anita DeFrantz and Jim Easton were more optimistic.

But all agreed that the Olympic Movement is a victim of its own success. During the past 25 years, corporate sponsors have invested millions in the Olympic brand, making it more and more lucrative for cities to seek the Games. With an IOC unwilling to enforce its gift-giving rules, cities were forced to out-schmooze their rivals or risk losing the race. Competition begot corruption, and before long IOC members were being treated not only to caviar and capers, but to black-pearl necklaces and nights in West Palm Beach.

"A lot of money is at stake. A lot of prestige is at stake," acknowledged Rep. Ed Bryant, R-Tenn.

Atlanta organizers said they were not trying to buy votes, but to win hearts. Along with the lavish gifts, Atlanta bought soccer balls for struggling nations and sent food to starving countries.

Former Atlanta Mayor Andrew Young said the commercialization of the Olympics may have contributed to a culture of gift-giving, but it also gave poor countries the funds to field teams.

"While the system was corrupt, it was in fact democratic," he said.

That prompted Upton to ask if the process was democratic because "everyone was taking gifts?"

Still, most panelists sympathized with Atlanta, reserving their wrath for representatives from the IOC.

Lawmakers were incredulous that DeFrantz, a member of the IOC since 1986, was unaware of the lavish gifts offered to her colleagues despite published accusations dating as far back as 1991.

"What kind of blinders did people in the Olympic Movement have on?" fired Ron Klink, D-Pa., holding up a copy of Toronto's stinging report on the Olympic bidding process that warned of the gift creep. He also criticized Young and Atlanta organizers for not challenging the system. "If Atlanta had blown the whistle, Salt Lake City would not be in the mess it is in today."

Klink was enraged that the U.S. government had to be the enforcer. And he was disturbed by reports that Congress' interest was being perceived by some IOC members as interference.

Former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger acknowledged as much during his testimony. Kissinger, a member of the IOC's reform committee, said he detected anti-American sentiment but did not believe those views would prevail.

IOC spokesman Franklin Servan-Schreiber told The Tribune it is important that the reforms be perceived as being driven by its own members. That is why Samaranch delayed his trip to Washington, to persuade reluctant members.

"We have to be careful that American pressure is not the engine of reform," Servan-Schreiber said.

But Kissinger discounted reports that congressional inquiries would harm U.S. cities' chances of ever hosting the Games, or that the IOC would retaliate against U.S. teams.

"It's one thing to needle the needler," he said. "It's another thing to antagonize us."

And that was the strong message Upton hoped IOC members would take back to their boss, that if reforms are not sweeping and swift, Samaranch and the rest of the IOC would feel Congress' boot on its backside, starting with legislation restricting the amount of money American companies can invest in the Olympics.

"The reforms are a constructive way out for future games and they need to be adopted," Upton said afterward. "This hearing is not about trashing the Olympics. It is instead about cleaning them up."

Volunteers to Run Games Venues

BY MIKE GORRELL
THE SALT LAKE
TRIBUNE

Community volunteers will manage venues during the 2002 Winter Games under a Salt Lake Organizing Committee plan designed to involve Utahns intimately in the Olympics.

The approach is not intended to cut costs. In fact, savings will be minimal, SLOC President Mitt Romney told his board Thursday. What it does, instead, is give Utahns eager to participate in the Games an opportunity to work directly in venues close to their homes, side-by-side with neighbors who want to leave international visitors with a favorable impression of their community.

"The community will create the Olympic experience for visitors," Romney said of the "Our Town, Your Town" program. And in doing so, it will generate not only lifelong memories for the volunteer corps but also skills that could be utilized after the Games, when Utah is likely to be a regular stop on the international sports circuit.

SLOC trustees embraced the concept by unanimous vote.

"People in Utah love to serve in this capacity," said board member Gerald Sherratt, the former Southern Utah University president who has personally observed Utahns' willingness to volunteer through his participation in the Cedar City-based Utah Summer Games.

"A fabulous approach," added Park City attorney Gordon Strachan.

As currently envisioned, a volunteer chairperson will be appointed for each of the 10 competition venues plus the Olympic Village, Rice-Eccles Stadium and a medals plaza in downtown Salt Lake City. Seven competition venues (all but the Utah Winter Sports Park, E-Center and Deer Valley) and two practice ice sheets will have volunteer general managers who will be assisted by full-time SLOC employees.

"These [volunteer GMs] will be in charge of running the venues," pledged Romney. "They won't be shadow managers with a SLOC person in the background."

SLOC, however, will be in charge (with international sports-federation officials) of all athletic competitions. The committee will have technical specialists available and will "have the final say on important decisions," he said.

But on more routine matters, Romney said, volunteer managers who know the venue and the players are imperative. "You need a mature executive to say 'to heck with the plan, let's do this.' It's a typical American model to put the cowboys and cowgirls in charge."

Volunteer chairpersons and general managers would work closely with SLOC senior vice president of human relations Ed Eynon to assemble the volunteer corps that would run the venue, doing everything from the simple tasks of taking tickets and ushering to the more specialized duties of helping with the on-site computer system and keeping financial records.

Romney said he hoped to see some SLOC board members as chairpersons, a job that requires experience running an organization and being in the public eye. These people will deal with dignitaries who come to the venue, meet with neighbors when they have problems with venue plans, coordinate with crisis teams and the news media and oversee activities to motivate the volunteers and build community interest.

This position should not be as time consuming as that of general manager, who must participate in training programs, help develop operational plans and serve as a liaison to venue owners, the community, government agencies and SLOC. Still, Romney said that until early in 2002, neither job will require

He hopes to begin accepting applications for the chairpersons next month and for general managers in mid-December. The chairpersons then can help recruit volunteers from corporations and universities prior to next March's launch of the general-public campaign to attract 20,000 volunteers for the Games and 6,000 volunteers for the Paralympics for disabled athletes.

Trustee Don Cash of Questar Corp. asked Romney to figure out, before the corporate-solicitation plan gets under way, how much of a burden donating companies will be asked to shoulder or to devise strategies to minimize the impact.

SLOC's plan is a hybrid of approaches used by previous Olympic organizing committees in Los Angeles (1984), Calgary (1988) and Atlanta (1996). Eynon said it is patterned most closely after Calgary's approach, which produced a successful Games and left the populace with fond memories of its Olympic experience.

regrouping and talking with them about their actions.

"But if it's a matter of losing Taylor, I know we'd hate to see that."

Weber Commissioner Ken Bischoff said he thinks the easements will kill the Taylor Canyon deal.

"What happens is, they've taken Taylor Canyon out of the mix," he said. "I don't think the Forest Service wants Taylor Canyon with easements."

He said the easements could even shift the burden of whether Taylor Canyon is included in the trade onto the shoulders of the county.

If the county supports the easements, he said, "we effectively make the decision for the Forest Service." Bischoff said he will ask the Weber County attorney if the county can reject the easement or can only ignore it.

Ogden Mayor Glenn Mecham said this morning he's happy to see the tram easement filed.

"We are very fortunate to have the preservation of a corridor that will link the Wasatch Front, particularly here in Ogden, to that upper valley and ski resort," Mecham said.

"I think that has major implications for our community," because otherwise Ogden could be totally bypassed by traffic from Salt Lake City to Snowbasin.

Weingardt said he would be talking to his legal people today to see if the easement can be challenged. Among other things, he said he wants to know if there would still remain any way the Forest Service could accept Taylor Canyon and still prevent Holding from building a tram if he chose to do so.

Taylor Canyon, at the top of 27th Street, is a popular hiking area along Ogden's east bench.

Trails through it connect to other trails strung all along the bench area and go up to the top of Moran's Peak and Mount Ogden. Holding owns the canyon, however.

The Snowbasin owner and the Forest Service have been negotiating a land swap for approximately 1,400 acres of land near Snowbasin since Congress approved legislation allowing the swap in 1996. The Forest Service has repeatedly said Taylor Canyon, which is specifically mentioned in the legislation, tops its list of land it wants to acquire.

Peterson said that land trade deal is very close to being completed.

"We're trying to bring it to a head right now," he said.

That was why the easements had to be filed Wednesday, he said. They protect Holding's and Weber County's and Ogden's interests after the deal goes through, he said.

Peterson insisted that Holding has no plans at this time to build a tram up Taylor Canyon. He said Holding just wants to be able to in the future.

"Since we bought the land we have wanted to keep open the alternative of having a cableway connect Ogden to Snowbasin," he said.

Doug Muir, the Wasatch/Cache Land Staff Officer for the Forest Service, said Wednesday afternoon he had not heard of the easements being filed by Holding.

He said requests by Holding to include an easement in the past have been turned down.

"That's been proposed but that's not provided in the legislation," he said. "It's an encumbrance that the United States can't accept."

He said the type of easements Holding wants do not have specific boundaries or descriptions of how they would be used.

"We just couldn't accept that regardless of the situation because you don't know what you own and don't own," he said.

Peterson said the tram easement filed Wednesday does not specify a route either. The easements are "in perpetuity," meaning they are legally binding on whoever owns the land.

The move took Ogden City and Weber County officials totally by surprise.

"That's the surprise of the day," said Commissioner Bischoff, who learned of the easements Wednesday afternoon in a private meeting with Ogden officials and Peterson.

Bischoff said the easement to the county was especially strange, since the county has shown no interest in ever building a tram in Taylor Canyon.

"There was surprise on everyone's face," he said. "We laughed about it."

He said the county would never put public money into a tram. "I can tell you if a tram ever goes up that canyon, it will be private money," he said.

The easement to Ogden City allows the city to build trails in the canyon.

Peterson said there are a number of trails there now. They are illegal, he said, but Holding doesn't mind. Now they can be made legal, he said.

Mecham said the easement is valuable protection for the city's trail network "because there's been consensual use of it (the canyon) all along" but the permission could have been withdrawn at any time.

Ogden City has considered the idea of a tram to the top of Mount Ogden for years.

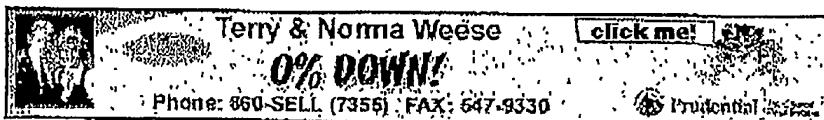

A feasibility study last year said one could be built that could make enough money to survive. The mayor and city council rejected it after public opposition.

Weber weighs land sale

Thursday, October 14, 1999

By CHARLES F. TRENTILMAN
Standard-Examiner staff

OGDEN -- Snowbasin owner Earl Holding is offering to pay Weber County $854,000 to buy 1,068 acres of North Fork Park as part of a land exchange with the U.S. Forest Service.

Chris Peterson, director of real estate for Snowbasin owner Earl Holding, said the county has to decide quickly. After more than three years of talks, he said, the land exchange could come very quickly.

"We're trying to bring it to a head right now," he said, but declined to say whether it was weeks or months away.

He said Weber County would benefit to the tune of $854,000 if it sells and the land would remain public, just managed by the Forest Service. If the county doesn't go along, he said, Snowbasin will have to pay the $854,000 to the federal government anyway.

"We don't want them to miss this window of opportunity that is closing very quickly," he said.

Weber County Commissioner Ken Bischoff said he wasn't sure how the deal would be received by the other two commissioners, who were out of town Wednesday.

He said he is skeptical. Being asked to decide something like this on short notice, he said, always makes him wonder.

"I'm not sure what all the agendas are," he said. "These are very shrewd land dealers, which is why you need to be careful."

He said he wondered why Snowbasin would go to the trouble of arranging a deal with the county, if it is ready to close the land exchange with the federal government.

"I think we need more information," he said. "I think we need the Forest Service side of this, so I need to visit with them."

Peterson presented the idea Wednesday evening to the Weber County Public Lands Advisory Committee. The land he wants to buy, he said, is 1,068 acres of North Fork Park, located north of Cutler Creek.

That committee opposed selling land in North Fork Park to Holding for a similar deal two years ago, saying it would actually mean less public land in total. There also was considerable public opposition to the deal.

Holding is negotiating a land exchange with the U.S. Forest Service. He wants to acquire about 1,400 acres of land at the base of Snowbasin to develop a world class year-round resort, complete with lodging, private residences, ski service facilities and a golf course.

Peterson said he is buying approximately 25 parcels of land in and around Weber County to trade to the Forest Service for that land. The land Snowbasin trades must be equal in value to the land it acquires.

Snowbasin had an option to buy land in North Fork Park two years ago from the Weber County Commission, but did not exercise that option and it has lapsed.

Now, Peterson said, he is asking the county to renew the deal, saying it presents a unique opportunity for Weber County to gain a lot of money without doing anything.

Peterson told the committee that the deal is possible because of the way the land exchange will work.

Under the law that set up the exchange, he said, Snowbasin must come up with land worth a minimum of 75 percent of the value of the land it wants. The resort can pay the rest in cash.

"We have sufficient land now," he said. "We have over 75 percent. We control that without North Fork Park."

That means the company has to come up with the money to make up the 25 percent. That raises the question, he said, of who will get it: the federal government or Weber County.

Peterson said Holding would rather the county got it.

It's a simple matter of the money staying locally, he said. Weber County has unfunded mandates from the federal government to meet, as well as other costs. If Snowbasin pays it the money, it won't have to raise that much in taxes.

"This is the community we're in," he said.

Wasatch Cache National Forest Supervisor Bernie Weingardt said the Forest Service would not be opposed to getting land in North Fork Park as part of the swap.

"I think our position is if the value of the lands are over 100 percent, then we would consider the county land because then it's just like doing a separate land exchange on the side," he said.

Bischoff said he had to agree with Peterson on one thing: trading the land to the federal government would be good for the land.

"It would be maintained better," he said. "We just don't have the money."

Bischoff said he was worried how the deal would be accepted by the public.

"I work for the public," he said. "How will they feel about having the Forest Service on that land rather than the county?"

Congress Approves Olympic Security Funding

BY MIKE GORRELL

THE SALT LAKE TRIBUNE

Congressional conferees have approved the expenditure next year of almost $6 million to bolster security during the 2002 Winter Olympics.

The security funding, along with a pledge to underwrite the creation of an identification and accreditation card designed to allow only authorized individuals into Olympic venues, was approved by House and Senate members negotiating the Commerce, Justice and State appropriations bill for fiscal year 2000.

In addition, the bill allocates $500,000 to plan for international youth camps during the Olympics and Paralympics and an undetermined amount to help the National Weather Service supply some forecast services for the Games. The bill has been sent to President Clinton for his signature.

"Congress wants to improve the Games and make sure ours are successful. . . . They delivered our full request for this year."

Mitt Romney

SLOC President

Salt Lake Organizing Committee President Mitt Romney praised Utah's congressional delegation, especially Republican Sen. Bob Bennett, and White House officials for securing bipartisan support for the funding.

"What you're seeing from the administration and Congress is a view that these are America's Games," Romney said. "People are always asking me if Congress will go after our sponsors [because of the bribery scandal]. No, Congress wants to improve the Games and make sure ours are successful. They delivered our full request for this year."

Last week, Congress approved a transportation appropriations bill that allocated almost $80 million for Olympics-related projects.

The security appropriation will provide $973,900 to the Utah Public Safety Command, a multi-agency coalition headed by state Public Safety Commissioner Craig Dearden, to continue work on a safety master plan. A draft plan should be done in December. It will be honed the following year, when training exercises based on the plan will begin.

"With the Olympics spread along the Wasatch Front, crossing a number of public-safety jurisdictional lines, this funding is important to avoid duplication and to consolidate all the public-safety resources Utah has to offer," said Bennett.

Conferees also approved $5 million for the Utah Communications Agency Network (UCAN), an integrated system designed to permit two-way radio contacts between Utah public-safety agencies and SLOC.

The need for a single communication system was emphasized after this summer's tornado in Salt Lake City. Different radio frequencies hampered communications between some of the responding agencies.

A combined Olympic identification and accreditation card, combined with a valid passport, also makes it easier for foreign athletes, team officials and news media to enter the country for the Games while maintaining security checks against a terrorist attack, Bennett said. The U.S. State Department will determine how much development of the card will cost.

Similarly, the U.S. Commerce Department will decide how much the National Weather Service needs for its operations and research; the Senate had suggested $397,000. The Weather Service and a private-sector weather company will share forecast responsibilities during the Games.

Winter Sports Schedule to Give Fans Preview of 2002 Games

BY JIM HALLEY

THE SALT LAKE TRIBUNE

With construction of Salt Lake City's Olympic venues nearly complete, organizers released their 1999-2000 winter sports schedule Thursday with an emphasis on another construction project: building the numbers of winter sports fans and volunteers. This winter, 16 pre-Olympic events—seven international and six national competitions—will be held in Utah, giving hometown fans a sneak peek at the athletes who will vie for gold here in 2002.

"It's a tremendous opportunity to see the world's best athletes at little or no cost," said Cathy Priestner Allinger, SLOC managing director of sports. "In the next couple of years, you'll see all the potential Olympic athletes competing in our test events."

This year, major events will be held at eight of the 10 Olympic venues, where 4,000 volunteers will get crucial pre-Games experience, Allinger said.

Lyle Nelson, director of Soldier Hollow, the cross-country ski venue where a third of the Games' 78 events will be held, also emphasized the importance of training volunteers.

"We want to train volunteers now, so when the Olympics come, they're relaxed and confident," Nelson said. "We need 275 volunteers to put on biathlon. We will be able to look back and say we as a community put on these Olympics."

Even more volunteers are needed for alpine events. The speed-events venue at Snowbasin will require 750 volunteers to set up and operate the downhill and super G courses, said Herwig Demschar, SLOC's director of alpine skiing. Another 300 are needed at both the Deer Valley slalom course and Park City's snowboard venue.

The first pre-Games event begins next week with a short-track speed skating World Cup at the Peaks Ice Arena in Provo. Among the other highlights of the international schedule: a giant slalom and slalom World Cup at Park City Mountain Resort Nov. 18-21, a freestyle World Cup at Deer Valley Jan. 8-9, a women's slalom World Cup at Deer Valley on Feb. 6, a women's downhill and super G World Cup at Snowbasin Feb. 7-12, and a snowboard World Cup March 3-5 at Park City Mountain Resort.

The U.S. biathlon championships and the NCAA cross-country championships will be held at Soldier Hollow. The Winter Sports Park will be host to the first U.S. sliding championships in bobsled, luge and skeleton. The U.S. curling championships will be held at the Ogden Ice Sheet.

The season concludes with Utah's first look at a Paralympic event, the ice sledge hockey world championships at the E Center March 19-25.

Re: 163A-AH-178, 11/10/1999

Pursuant to this request, SSA [] provided a presentation which focused on the security and safety planning for the 2002 Winter Olympic Games in Salt Lake City, Utah. In addition to addressing the complex planning requirements supporting Special Events such as the 2000 World Cup, 2000 European Soccer Championships, 2002 World Cup, 2002 Winter Olympics, 2004 Summer Olympics and 2003 Paralympics, the Seminar examined a broad spectrum of Terrorism-related issues that could impact aforementioned events. Of particular note was a unanimous agreement among Seminar participants that forums such as this provide an excellent opportunity to share information vital to the successful efforts of law enforcement to counteract the inherent threat of terrorism directed at Special Events.

b7C

As recipients are aware, Athens will host the 2004 Summer Olympic Games. Through the liaison efforts of Legat Shaw working closely with [] it was determined that the Police have a strong desire to fund one or more police officers to travel and reside in Salt Lake City in order to participate and learn valuable planning skills associated with Olympic Counterterrorism planning requirements.

b7D

As previously iterated in Legat Athens EC dated 10/28/99, it is readily apparent that [] desperately need direction and assistance for security and counterterrorism planning in support of the 2004 Summer Olympic Games. This opinion is shared by the writer, as well. The FBI's proactive initiatives to assist the Greek Government, and specifically [] will provide critical counterterrorism support to this event and strengthen the strong liaison between the FBI and []

b6
b7C

It is anticipated that a formal request will be made in the near future to the FBI through Legat Shaw to send at least one Hellenic police officer to Salt Lake City. Upon approval of previously requested approval from FBIHQ, Legat Athens and SSA [] will coordinate necessary requirements regarding this matter.

Salt Lake City Division is appreciative of the opportunity to attend this valuable Seminar and looks forward to supporting the efforts of Legat Athens to provide this valuable opportunity.

I am writing to you in reference to my August 24, 1999 letter, regarding the identification of your agency's Olympic roles and responsibilities.

Currently, we are in the process of compiling the information received from agencies represented on the Federal Affairs workgroup. We have not received any response from your agency to date. The information I have requested will be an important part of our Federal Olympic linkage planning process. I have attached a copy of the original letter for your information in completing this request. I would appreciate receiving your response by November 15, 1999. Your response can be mailed to UOPSC at the address on the letterhead, or faxed to (801) 328-4608.

I am writing to you because your agency is a member of the Utah Olympic Public Safety Command's (UOPSC) Federal Affairs work group. I am writing to ask you to assist UOPSC to identify your agency's Olympic roles and responsibilities.

As you may know, the federal affairs group has identified three categories of budget requirements, called Type A, B, and C. Type A requirements are your agency's normal operating budgets. Type B relate to your agency's statutory Olympic-related responsibilities. Type C requirements concern support you are willing to provide to UOPSC as we carry out our Olympic security responsibilities.

The UOPSC planners have identified the resources we will need to ensure the Games are safe and secure. We have also identified what portion of this requirement we will be able to meet using state and local assets.

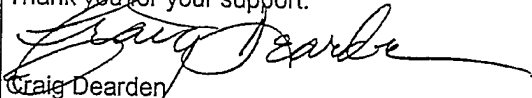

We want to make sure UOPSC understands the role you are prepared, by law or policy, to play in the Games. Additionally, I would like to request your assistance in identifying the support your agency may be willing and able to provide. Consequently, I request that you provide the Olympic Command with the following information:

1. The name of your agency's primary Olympic representative, and the appropriate contact information.
2. The types of support your agency would be willing to provide to the public safety community, and what you require from UOPSC before that support can be provided.
3. Your agency's Olympic-related responsibilities. Please reference the statutory, regulatory or other basis for those responsibilities.
4. The assets your agency will employ to carry out its statutory responsibilities, and what assistance you would like from UOPSC in carrying out your mission.

Preparations for the FY 2001 federal budget are well underway. We have been asked by congressional and agency representatives to provide them with our resource requirements by mid-September. Therefore, I request that you provide me with the above information by Thursday, September 9, 1999. I realize this is a short time line, so I would appreciate whatever information you can provide to help us meet this congressional requirement. Your response can be mailed to UOPSC at the address on the letterhead, or faxed to (801) 328-4608.

My point of contact for this action is [REDACTED] Please contact him (801-201-2669) with any questions you might have about this request.

Details: In February 1999 the FBI was requested by the Utah Olympic Public Safety Command (UOPSC) to assume responsibilities supporting Tactical First Response at all Olympic venue sites during the period of January 16 - February 24, 2002. Subsequent to the FBI's acceptance of this responsibility, SSA [REDACTED] CIRG, conducted venue site inspection and assessments.

To: Counterterrorism Division From: Salt Lake City
Re: 300A-SU-43750, 11/17/1999

On 6/18/99, SSA [] presented a comprehensive Olympic tactical plan to SAC David M. Tubbs, which outlined in detail the FBI's mission responsibilities and recommended support. At the conclusion of this meeting it was agreed that CIRG would assume direction and management of all Olympic Venue tactical mission requirements to include Hostage Rescue and Salt Lake City Division would act as the central coordination point for the management of all Olympic matters to include Olympic fiscal support requests.

Additionally, it was agreed that Salt Lake City Division would assist and support CIRG in conducting a Olympic Tactical Planning meeting in Salt Lake City by the end of 1999.

The purpose of this meeting would be to brief designated SWAT Team Leaders with Planning requirements and FBI Tactical responsibilities supporting the 2002 Winter Olympic Games. Furthermore, this meeting would provide an opportunity for this group to gain critical site familiarization that will assist in the development of venue site security assessments and surveys to commence in 2000.

On December 13-16, 1999, Salt Lake City Division in cooperation with CIRG will sponsor an Olympic Tactical Planning Meeting in Park City, Utah. The purpose of this meeting is to present and discuss objectives, responsibilities and requirements pertaining to the FBI's Tactical Mission in support of captioned event.

On 11/17/99 Salt Lake City Division was contacted by CIRG and notified that inadequate funding was available in CIRG travel budget to subsidize the travel, per diem and lodging for designated Division SWAT Team Leaders scheduled to participate in this meeting. It is anticipated that travel related costs for this meeting would total approximately []

b7E

Therefore, in support of this meeting it is requested that FBIHQ, CTD provide fiscal support for this meeting. This event will require substantial support from other FBI Divisions. As a SERL 1 Event, with a NSSE designation, it is recognized by FBIHQ that this event requires the full support by FBI and the U.S. Government. In this regard, it is apparent that fiscal responsibility for this event falls outside the normal operational budget of any field Division. Therefore, it is requested that CTD provide required approval and funding for this meeting.

MAJOR CASE 159

Synopsis: To request that the Honors Intern selected for the Salt Lake City Division be assigned to the Salt Lake City Field Office rather than FBIHQ to support 2002 Winter Olympic Games preparation.

Administrative: Reference 9/01/1999 EC regarding initial request for two (2) Honors Interns to assist in the Olympic Games preparation, and 11/23/99 telephonic conversations between [redacted] and IRS [redacted]

Details: In February 2002, Salt Lake City, Utah, will be hosting the Olympic and Paralympic Winter Games. PDD-39 and PDD-62 designate the FBI as the lead agency for counterterrorism, crisis management, hostage rescue, and intelligence during National Security Special Events (NSSE). In July 1999, the 2002 Winter Olympic Games was designated an NSSE.

The Salt Lake City Division is actively preparing for the Olympic Games. Extensive security planning and coordination with federal, state, and local agencies are necessary for the FBI to complete its mission and for holding a successful Olympic Games. As the Olympic Games approach, the demands upon the Special Agents will increase. Placement of Honors Interns to assist in these Olympic preparations will be greatly beneficial.

Re: 300A-SU-43750, 11/24/1999

A request was made in the 9/01/99 EC for two (2) Honors Interns be assigned to the Salt Lake City Field Office for this purpose.

Recognizing that due to cuts to the program and that the Salt Lake City Division will only be allowed one (1) Honors Intern, Salt Lake City Division requests that the Honors Intern be assigned to the Salt Lake City Field Office rather than FBIHQ. This placement will not only better address Salt Lake City's needs, but will give the Intern the opportunity to participate in Olympic preparations and possibly be hired on a part-time basis after the end of the Internship.

Details: As you are aware on 2/8-24/2002, Salt Lake City will planning. It is anticipated that the FBI's commitment in regard to personnel will continue to expand as this major international special event draws near.

Following the Salt Lake Games, the next cities to host Olympic events will be Athens, Greece and Turin, Italy in 2004 and 2006 respectively. In recent years, it has become the practice for the FBI to cooperate with other countries hosting the Olympic Games and other major international special events to gain insight into their Olympic planning process and to share our experiences and lessons learned. This history of this effort is as follows:

- This is a common practice for Olympic events. In the past, the FBI has assigned a Special Agent to major foreign cities in which the Olympic Games were held.
- An FBI Agent was detailed to Seoul, Korea from 1986 to 1988 for the Korean Olympics.
- An FBI Agent was also assigned to Barcelona, Spain from 1989 to 1992 for the Barcelona Games.
- The Agent assigned to Barcelona also acted as liaison and advisor to the 1994 Winter Olympic Games in Lillehammer, Norway.
- These Agents acted as liaison with all relevant law enforcement agencies as well as corporate security. They also provided security advice and investigative expertise in preparation for the Olympic Games. Assigned Agents had extensive experience in Special Events Management and acted as advisors to the Olympic planning process.
- Currently, at the request of [REDACTED] b7D [REDACTED] the FBI has assigned one Special Agent to the Consulate General's Office in Sydney, Australia.
- In addition to participation in the planning process, should a terrorist or other major incident involving U.S. citizens occur during a special event in a foreign country, the FBI detailee will act as the on-scene responder to conduct liaison and protect FBI investigative interests as well as U.S. interests involved in the situation

To: Counterterrorism From: Counterterrorism Division (CTD)
Re: 300A-SU-43750, 10/22/1999

- For other major special events, the FBI has placed Agents on TDY basis to other countries to observe and act as the FBI's on-scene representative. For example, the FBI had Agents on-site during the 1998 Winter Olympics in Nagano, Japan. Additionally, the FBI TDYed an Agent to Paris, France for the 1998 World Cup Soccer Championships. These assignments are generally done at the request and in coordination with the host country.
- As with the assigning of FBI Agents to other countries to act as special events advisors, [redacted] b7D [redacted] seconded one of their officers to the FBI's Atlanta Field Office for a period of approximately two years in preparation for the 1996 Summer Olympic Games. This individual worked in the field office as one of the staff of Olympic planners.
- In addition, the FBI hosted representatives of several foreign governments for the 1994 World Cup Soccer Championships. These individuals acted as advisors to the FBI and local police during both the planning and execution phases of the 1994 World Cup Soccer Championships. The services of these individuals were invaluable in hosting an event which involved 24 countries competing in 52 games in nine U.S. cities.
- In all of the above circumstances, the FBI was able to provide expertise in planning for major special events, as well as to glean insight from the special events experiences of other cultures.
- Although there are many commonalities among major special events, each event also has aspects which are unique. By exchanging personnel with other countries for major special events, the FBI is not only able to benefit from others' experiences and to apply these lessons should we be faced with similar circumstances at future domestic events, but should a terrorist or other major incident involving U.S. citizens occur during a special event in a foreign country, the FBI will have established liaison in place.

In view of the above history and in preparation for the 2002 Winter Olympic Games, the Salt Lake Division has requested that [redacted] b7D [redacted] to be seconded to Salt Lake City to participate in the Olympic planning process. Although no official invitation has been issued, this matter has been coordinated through Legat Athens and Legat Rome.

To: Counterterrorism From: Counterterrorism Division (CTD)
Re: 300A-SU-43750, 10/22/1999

The Greek Government has voiced their support for this effort and is amenable to sending a representative.

Administratively, it is anticipated that this assignment would begin at the earliest possible date and continue through the Olympic Games and any after-action activities related to the event. The FBI Salt Lake will provide office space for the seconded police officers in the FBI Olympic Counterterrorism Center. The FBI will be responsible for any expenses incurred by these individuals which are incurred as a result of FBI direction. However, all other costs associated with this assignment will be the responsibility of the Greek and Italian Governments (i.e. lodging, subsistence, travel costs to and from Salt Lake from the home country and any other travel not at FBI direction).

Therefore, it is requested that approval be granted to initiate invitations for [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] to be seconded to Salt Lake City to participate in the planning process for the 2002 Winter Olympic Games. It is further requested that receiving divisions provide their concurrence and any input or requirements that they foresee to accomplish the above request.

The SEMU will coordinate the above request with Legat Athens, Legat Rome, and Salt Lake. The point of contact for the above is Intelligence Operations Specialist [REDACTED] SEMU, DT/CPS, CTD, ext. 8578.

to the initial briefings provided by SSA [redacted] in November 1999, the Chief has requested that the FBI provide additional training and briefings to help [redacted] and the Greek government begin their preparations for the Olympic Games.

b6
b7D

As part of a two part initial process, the Chief has requested that Legat Athens coordinate a briefing in Athens for police, Public Order, and Interior Ministry officials. He has requested that a briefing team comprised of Salt Lake City personnel conduct briefings for police and government officials regarding security, counter terrorism and police issues. The Chief intends this to be an initial presentation of planning issues to help orient 2004 Game officials to the anticipated problems and issues involved with such a major event. At the current time, the Hellenic Police need support and direction to initiate their efforts.

As a second part of the request, the Chief has asked that some formula be decided upon in which [redacted]

b7D

As previously stated, Legat Athens believes that this is a very good opportunity to further expand upon the early initiatives begun with [redacted] to include Hostage Rescue training (HRT) Bomb and Post Blast training, and Hostage Negotiation training. [redacted] can solicit training and direction from a variety of countries, but they have chosen to solicit assistance from the FBI and, by logical extension, the American government. This is truly a unique opportunity to be prepared ourselves to participate and assist in the Olympic planning process for games which will be held in a very volatile area of the world, one which will have potentially high security and counter terrorism issues which will impact upon American participation. Much more than Sydney or Salt Lake City, there are very unique and salient challenges attendant to the hosting of and in participating in Olympic games in this area.

Legat requests that timely coordination be effected between the Special Events Management Unit, International Overseas Section, Salt Lake City and the International Training Unit to identify a suitable briefing team to be dispatched to Athens during February 2000. It is the opinion of Legat Athens that this team should be comprised of members of the FBI, who should take a lead role, and various Federal and state law enforcement, security and counter terrorism agencies. A full security and counter terrorism planning briefing has been requested. Adequate time should also be included to allow for break-out types of organizational briefings.

To: Salt Lake City From: Athens
Re: 163A-AH-178 (Pending)

Legat Athens looks to Salt Lake for a lead role in this effort given the current status of the planning effort at that Olympic venue and the need for timeliness and to coordinate and fiscal issues to be addressed.

To summarize, Athens requests

300A-SU-43750-257

To: Counterterrorism Unit From: Salt Lake City
Re: 300A-SU-43750, 12/30/1999

SSA [] provided a brief status report regarding Olympic planning and set forth Salt Lake City's priority requirements for the year 2002. The following requirements were established as both critical and necessary to maintain a minimum strategic objectives timeline:

b6
b7C

1. Renovation of the 6th floor,
150 Social Hall Ave. -
FBI Olympic Counterterrorism Center.
Estimated Cost: []
2. Establishment of Communication capability
 - a. Server for all computers - Cost: []
 - b. Telephones switch for all requirements - Cost: []
3. Renovation of the 5th Floor,
150 Social Hall Ave.
Olympic Coordination Center.
All federal, state and local,
public safety operations will be coordinated from this location
Estimated Renovation Costs: []

b7E

These three areas of support were discussed as being critical to current operational and planning needs and necessary to fulfill timeline requirements. If these requirements are not met in the next six months the ability of the FBI to meet it's statutory operational requirements in February 2002 will be irreparably compromised.

At the conclusion of discussions surrounding this meeting, it was agreed that SEMU would examine the possibility of funding a substantial portion of these areas of support from the Joint Terrorism Task Force (JTTF) Budget. The remaining balance of funding to support these requirements would be solicited from the Finance Division.

In conclusion, the consensus of this meeting recognized that the FBI is spending considerable money for a building which can only be used if the aforementioned requirements are introduced. Therefore, all attendees of this meeting recognized the critical importance to identify funding to immediately support the above listed requirements.

In January of 2000 the FBI was notified the government lodging rate for Park City, Utah during the month of June was lowered to [REDACTED] per night.

The Canyons Resort is currently planning to rent their rooms for [REDACTED] per night, minimum rate. They are also allowing the FBI to use their ballroom (which can accomodate 300 people) for no cost. The only other hotel in Park City which could accomodate this number of people gave the FBI a bid of [REDACTED] for the use of their ballroom. SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH

Synopsis: To coordinate a quarterly terrorism risk analysis report in preparation for the 2002 Winter Olympic Games.

Details: Salt Lake City will be hosting the 2002 Winter Olympic and Paralympic Games in February and March 2002. The Olympics are a high profile event involving a large number of international spectators, athletes, and diplomats. The Games have been designated as a National Security Special Event (NSSE), thereby giving the FBI lead federal agency authority over intelligence, counter-terrorism, crisis management, and hostage rescue during the Olympic Games.

The high international profile of the Games makes the 2002 Winter Games vulnerable to a terrorist attack. As observed in the 1972 Munich and 1996 Atlanta Olympic Games, as well as the riots and violence that took place during the 1999 WTO Conference in Seattle, this threat is real and demonstrate the need for timely intelligence and analysis. Further, the arson at the Vail Ski resort prior to the World Skiing Championships in 1998 illustrates the impact and possibility of terrorist acts prior to the event.

To better prepare for these types of threats, the Salt Lake City Division FBI is preparing a terrorism threat analysis that will be updated on a quarterly basis beginning April 2000.

This version will be shared with the Center for Intelligence Collection Analysis and Distribution (CICAD) of the Utah Olympic Public Safety Command (UOPSC). The classified version will include the unclassified version in addition to sensitive information and International Terrorism intelligence and will be kept only in the Division for FBI use only.

The first threat assessment is expected to be produced in April 2000. The next assessment dates will be as follows: July 2000, October 2000, January 2001, and so on until January 2002.

It is requested that Counterterrorism Division and the Regional Intelligence Support Group (RISG) assist IRS [] in the coordination and collection of intelligence for the national and international threat section of the assessment and to assist in the production of the threat assessment due April 2000.

It is further requested that during the next two years, all field offices and legats are requested to canvass sources and report any positive information about possible threats to Utah and/or the 2002 Winter Games to IRS []

RE: 2002 WINTER OLYMPIC GAMES
SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH
FEBRUARY and MARCH, 2002
Our file 300A-SU-43750

Dear

As you are aware, Salt Lake City will be hosting the 2002 Winter Olympic and Paralympic Games in February and March 2002. The Olympics are a high profile event involving a large number of international spectators, athletes, and diplomats. The Games have been designated as a National Security Special Event (NSSE), thereby giving the FBI lead U.S. federal agency authority over intelligence, counter-terrorism, crisis management, and hostage rescue during the event.

The high international profile of the Games makes the event vulnerable to a terrorist attack. As observed in the 1972 Munich and 1996 Atlanta Olympic Games, as well as the riots and violence that took place during the 1999 World Trade Organization (WTO) Conference in Seattle, this threat is real and demonstrate the need for timely intelligence and analysis. Further, the arson at the Vail, Colorado Ski resort prior to the World Skiing Championships in 1998 illustrates the impact and possibility of terrorist acts prior to the event.

To better prepare for these types of threats, the Salt Lake City Division of the FBI, is preparing a domestic and international terrorism threat analysis that will be updated on a quarterly basis beginning April 2000.

The first threat assessment is expected to be produced in April 2000. The next assessment dates will be as follows: July 2000, October 2000, January 2001, and so on until January 2002.

Subsequently, we kindly request that you immediately advise us of any positive threat information that could have an impact on the event and its participants or the Utah region.

SPOTSYLVANIA COURT HOUSE HISTORIC DISTRICT

Visit the Spotsylvania Court House District, rich with history. The Spotsylvania Court House, battered during the Civil War, was reconstructed in the early 1900's with the original Doric columns.

The Spotsylvania County Museum houses a collection of local artifacts and genealogical records. Located in the Old Berea Church, dating back to 1856, battle scars inflicted by the war still remain. Open year-round. 582-7167. No admission.

The restored Spotswood Inn, ca. 1820, has been a school, post office, and tavern, as well as a popular inn. It served as military headquarters for General Jubal Early and as an observation point for General Robert E. Lee during the war.

Christ Episcopal Church served as a Civil War hospital and still bears wartime scars.

The Confederate Cemetery is the final resting place for nearly 600 Confederate soldiers from 10 states.

Finally, see the old jail, built in 1781 and transferred to its present site in 1839.

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S FERRY FARM

Rt. 3 East at Ferry Road, across the river from Fredericksburg, 373-3381, ext. 28

Ferry Farm is a place of legend and of rich and diverse history. Here the boy George Washington grew to manhood (from 1738-1752, ages 6-19) and here is the setting of the stories of the cherry tree and the silver dollar (really a stone) thrown across the Rappahannock River. Here, too, was an important part of the Union lines during the Battle of Fredericksburg. Ongoing archaeological digs have already revealed evidence of early Native American habitation. The work continues in the search for the original farm buildings and houses of Washington's youth. Open Monday - Saturday: 10 am - 5 pm; Sunday: 12 - 5 pm. Tours available by reservation. No admission, but donations suggested.

Retrace some of the history of the Civil War at four battlefields: Fredericksburg, The Wilderness, Spotsylvania Court House, and Chancellorsville.

Relive "Lee's most one-sided victory" against Union General Ambrose E. Burnside at the Fredericksburg Battlefield at Marye's Heights and Chatham.

The Battle of the Wilderness first pitted General Robert E. Lee against Union General Ulysses S. Grant and turned the tide of the war as Grant continued his march, "On To Richmond."

And Spotsylvania Court House is the site of "Bloody Angle"—an intense engagement of bloody hand-to-hand combat between the Union and Confederate armies.

Chancellorsville is known for the brilliant military maneuvers accomplished by Lee and Stonewall Jackson against Union General Joseph Hooker. It was also where Jackson was mistakenly and mortally shot by his own troops.

During the summer, Civil War living history is presented at several sites operated by the park service and walking tours guided by park historians are available in certain locations.

The battlefields are open daily until dusk.

Two visitor centers at Chancellorsville and Fredericksburg help interpret the four battlefields with audio-visual presentations and museum exhibits. Maps, brochures, and assistance from park historians are available. Adult seven-day park passes for all National Park sites in the area: $3. Children 16 and under, free. Annual passes are available at $15. Open daily: 9 am - 5 pm, except January 1 and December 25. Extended summer hours. Please allow 50 minutes per visitor center for your visit.

OLD TOWN FALMOUTH

Founded in 1728 when Fredericksburg was created, Falmouth retains several historic sites. Only the facade of Union Church, built in 1832, remains but the adjacent cemetery contains the grave of James Hunter whose nearby iron works supplied the Revolutionary Army and Navy muskets, anchors and other products. Located on Carter Street.

Also in Falmouth are the Customs House or Surveyors Office, a small two-story building on Cambridge Street, the oldest municipal building in Stafford; Shelton Cottage, an 18th century workingman's cottage, on River Road; and the Master Hobby School, a log house on Carter Street.

VIRGINIA IS FOR LOVERS

Welcome To Fredericksburg, Spotsylvania & Stafford

There is the area that is steeped in history, and still a vibrant and growing community. However, our area comes alive every day with the old and the new. This makes the region distinctive in at least two important ways—our history is real, not re-creation, and our history is notable in so many different eras—colonial, Revolutionary war, Civil War, and through the early 20th century.

In the 18th century, the giants of American democracy were here. And from their actions or influence, some of America's most important historical events occurred. During 1999, Fredericksburg will host extensive bicentennial celebrations of its most famous resident, George Washington. It was in Fredericksburg that he grew to manhood. Here, he developed the character that gave him the strength to lead the fight for independence and to guide our new nation through many crises and the founding of a new government.

However, other icons of the early American history were also here. Thomas Jefferson and James Monroe each made significant contributions to our nation's history when they resided in or visited our area.

The Civil War is also a crucial part of our rich historical heritage. Some of that war's most intense conflicts were fought Reenact special events help tell the story of the Civil War in the Fredericksburg area, which saw four major battles and over 100,000 casualties.

LIVING HISTORY ENLIVENS THIS CHARMING OLD TOWN.

The "physick" at the High Mercer Apothecary Shop has a potion so strong, according to one colonial plantation owner, "It could cure a man with a bad wife."

THE FREDERICKSBURG AREA—BEAUTY AND HISTORY UNITED.

You'll be treated as if you've just stepped off a stagecoach in colonial days by the "wenches" at the Rising Sun Tavern in a colorful living history presentation.

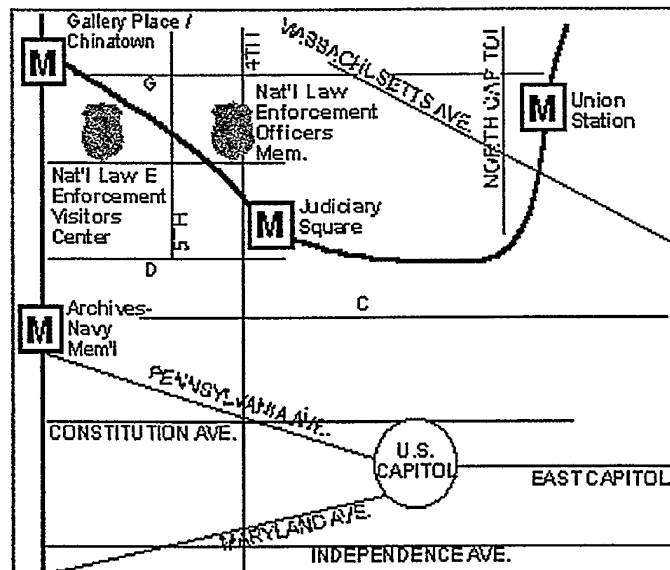

Elegant statuary graces the grounds of the colonial plantation home, Chatham, which is also known for its role in the Battle of Fredericksburg in the Civil War.

FBI ACADEMY REGULATIONS

DRESS CODE

The dress code at the Academy requires professional, business clothes (such as a collared shirt or blouse and slacks or skirt, or a dress) be worn. However, casual clothes such as jeans and t-shirts can be worn after 6 P.M. or on weekends or holidays. Sandals, shorts, halters, or tube or tank tops may not be worn at any time.

AUTOMOBILES AND PARKING

You must register your vehicle at the reception desk in the Jefferson Dormitory and park in the large lot across the road from the Jefferson Dormitory. Please DO NOT park in the spaces marked "Reserved" or in the grass.

SMOKING

The Academy is a non-smoking facility. There is only two areas in which you may smoke: the courtyard between the auditorium building and Hall of Honor. You may not smoke anywhere in the Academy complex. If you choose to smoke, please use the ashtrays provided and not the ground in the courtyard.

RELATIONSHIP WITH THE UNITED STATES MARINE CORPS (USMC)

The FBI has an extremely cordial relationship with the USMC, and we ask you to help us maintain this relationship. Please observe all posted speed limits, exercise courtesy and good judgement when dealing with USMC personnel, and respect all restricted areas. Many of these restricted areas contain unexploded ordnance.

The USMC strictly enforces traffic regulations, especially alcohol-related offenses. You must wear a seatbelt on base.

Re: (Invitation to Travel to Quantico, Virginia for

Dear (ie. Salt Lake City Police Chief):

On behalf of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), I invite you to participate in two Utah Olympic Public Safety Command Table Top Exercises being hosted by the FBI. The exercises are to be conducted at the FBI Academy, Quantico, Virginia on July 27 and 28, 1999. They are intended to elicit contingency plans and considerations for members comprising the UOPSC for the Salt Lake Olympic Games 2002. The exercises will be coordinated in a fashion to stimulate group interaction and are not intended to test a specific plan or the attending UOPSC members. On July 29, 1999, the FBI's Critical Incident Response Group - Hostage Rescue Team (CIRG-HRT) will provide the UOPSC with a briefing and demonstration of their capabilities.

The first Table Top Exercise will focus on special event issues pertaining to the Olympics such as accreditation, intelligence, transportation, dignitary protection, and specialized management centers (EOD, tactical, aviation, etc.) These issues will be deliberated by the command to identify their roles, responsibilities, and jurisdiction. This exercise will lay the foundation for command and control protocol and organizational structure in support of the public safety effort.

The second Table Top Exercise will involve a critical incidence response to a weapons of mass destruction (WMD) incident at the Olympic Games. This WMD exercise will allow for meaningful dialogue on law enforcement response and public safety considerations. The UOPSC will become familiar with the Federal capabilities and resources that will be pre-positioned in Salt Lake City. The exercise will also assist the UOPSC to better understand how and when to utilize these specialized resources in the event of a WMD incident. Additional objectives of the exercise will be to focus on critical incident response, command and control issues, and the development of a unified command system.

PONY

Monday, July 26, 1999, is scheduled as a travel day to Quantico, Virginia, while Friday, July 30, 1999, will be for return travel to Salt Lake City, Utah.

Tentative lodging accommodations have been made at the rate of [redacted] per night plus tax, for the UOPSC members for July 26-29, 1999, in Stafford, Virginia. Thirty-three (33) rooms have been "block" reserved at [redacted] In order to secure your lodging, please call [redacted] no later than July 09, 1999, at telephone number [redacted] and advise that the reservation is "blocked" under "Salt Lake City Olympics." Brochures of the hotel and local information are enclosed for your benefit.

b7E

Flight and rental car reservations must be made through Omega travel at FBIHQ, telephone number 202-324-2111. You will need to provide Omega travel with your FD-540 number and advise that you are on the "Salt Lake City Division's" list. The FBI will reimburse you for only government air fare, lodging, meals, cab fares, and car rental, as required, pursuant to the Federal Travel Regulations applying to Federal employees on official business. Due to budget constraints, you are requested to exercise prudence and minimize the number of rental vehicles. Therefore, it is recommended that rental vehicles be shared with other participants when possible.

If you have any questions regarding reimbursement or reservations, please direct them to [redacted] FBI Salt Lake City, at 801-579-4637. I look forward to seeing you in Quantico.

FBI TABLE TOP EXERCISE FOR COMMANDERS
UTAH OLYMPIC PUBLIC SAFETY COMMAND
FBI ACADEMY
QUANTICO, VIRGINIA
JULY 27-29, 1999

Please note: If the command member receiving this letter elects to send another member from the command of their agency, please forward this information to the appropriate individual.

TRAVEL AND LOGISTICAL INFORMATION

I. Each UOPSC agency will identify a command level representative to attend this exercise. This representative should be the agency head or his/her second in command who will be making the command and control decisions during the 2002 Olympic Winter Games. Each agency should forward the name of their representative including Social Security number to Ed Spann (801) 328-5601.

II. The FBI will be paying for the following expenses related to this exercise:

- a. Round trip airfare to Washington Dulles or Ronald Reagan National Airport
- b. Airport parking (7/26-30/99)
- c. Rental vehicles (2 commanders per rental vehicle) (7/26-30/99)
- d. Hotel accommodations (7/26-30/99)
- e. Meals and incidental expenses (7/26-30/99)

III. Expense payment methods and reimbursement procedures:

- Each commander will be required to pay for each of the above expense items through agency or personal credit cards, except for airfare.
- Each commander will be reimbursed for each expense item after submission of government voucher. The information portion of these vouchers will be filled out at the FBI Academy prior to departure. After submission of the below listed receipts, the vouchers will be completed and forwarded by the Salt Lake City FBI.. Each commander will be required to submit receipts for the following expenses:
 1. Airfare
 2. Airport parking (if over $75.00)
 3. Rental vehicle
 4. Hotel receipts
- After submission of the completed voucher with receipts, a reimbursement check will be forwarded to each traveler within a two to four week period.

IV. Step by Step procedures

- Contact Omega Travel Agency's onsite Office at (202) 324-2111 to make your airline and rental car reservations. Travel day to Quantico is 7/26/99 and return travel is 7/30/99. You may elect to travel earlier or return at a later date. Each commander will travel on a changeable and refundable government airfare. The current round trip rates are [] to Washington Dulles Airport and [] to Washington Ronald Reagan National Airport. You can make personal reservations for other individuals (family /friends) through Omega Travel at the same time. The current rates for non-refundable round trip airfare to either Dulles or Ronald Reagan is [] These reservations need to be secured 21 days prior to departure and the traveler must stay over one Saturday night. These tickets may be changed with a [] fee. Omega Travel will make the reservations and forward a confirmation/payment form to you by fax. When you forward the signed form back to them, they will confirm your personal reservation. Your government reservation will be confirmed through a fax of the itinerary. You may choose to have your government reservation ticketed through an e-ticket or you can simply chose to tell the airport personnel that you have a reserved seat on the flight and your information is in the system. b7E
- Car rental reservations must also be made through Omega Travel. They will secure the reservation, however, the car will need to be paid for with a credit card.
- IMPORTANT: When making the air and car reservations, you must give them your FD-540 number and say that you are on the "Salt Lake City Division's List." A list of the FD-540 numbers is attached to this information sheet.
- Contact the [] by July 9, telephone number [] and confirm your reservations by credit card. Rooms are being held under the FBI at the government rate of [] plus tax totaling. These rooms are reserved from 7/26-30/99. You can make reservations for your room at that same rate prior to or after the above dates availability permitting. When making reservations, remember to say that you are a member of the "Salt Lake City Olympics" so that you receive a room blocked for the group under the government rate. The hotel is located in [] from Quantico. Maps and directions will be forwarded to each commander by separate package. b7E
- The current government daily per diem rates for Quantico, Virginia, are [] for hotel and [] for meals and incidental expenses (M&IE). You do not need to keep receipts for meal expenses. The voucher claims will be submitted on the flat line method which entitles each traveler to the above daily per diem claim regardless of expenditures. On the day you travel to and from Quantico, you will be allowed a claim for 3/4 M&IE of [] day.
- The following information will be forwarded to each commander by separate package:
 1. Maps and directions
 2. Schedule and agenda
 3. Tourist information

4. FBI Academy regulations

Any questions regarding this exercise or travel logistics should be directed to or at the FBI at (801) 579-4637.

Title: 2002 UTAH WINTER OLYMPIC GAMES
SALT LAKE CITY DIVISION
FUNDING MATTER

Synopsis: The purpose of this document is to provide information on the transfer of funds from the National Security Division (NSD) to CIRG. These funds will be used to purchase the cold weather protective clothing needed by the 17 SWAT teams scheduled to participate in the 2002 Olympic Winter Games as they train for and deploy to this special event.

Details: CIRG continues to refine a comprehensive counter-terrorism plan for the 2002 Olympic Winter Games. Part of the plan requires the 17 SWAT teams to train in cold weather environments. This training will focus on first - survival in cold weather environments, then - afford SWAT Agents training in movement on snow and ice (with vehicles and on foot) and finally - allow SWAT team members the opportunity to practice SWAT techniques under adverse weather conditions.

CIRG's counter-terrorism concept also includes conducting tactical site surveys at each of the 20 venues associated with the 2002 Olympic Winter Games. The site surveys must be completed before the Olympics begin. These surveys are essential to a swift and successful tactical response should one be needed.

On Thursday, February 3, 2000, UC [REDACTED] and SSA [REDACTED] met with SC Robert Burnham, DSC [REDACTED] and UC [REDACTED] to discuss funding for SWAT's training efforts as well as the conduct of tactical site surveys in preparation for the 2002 Olympic Winter Games.

Synopsis: To report the nature and purpose of the on-site visit of individuals from the Special Events Management Unit to the Salt Lake City area which occurred during the week of January 31st through February 4th, 2000.

Enclosure(s): A copy of the agenda for captioned visit.

Details: On Monday, January 31st, [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] of the Special Events Management Unit (SEMU), FBIHQ, traveled to Salt Lake City, Utah, to conduct an on-site review of the renovations proposed for the space leased to house the Joint Operations Center/Command Post (JOC/CP) in preparation for the 2002 Olympic Winter Games.

b7C

During the course of the week, the individuals provided assistance to the Salt Lake City Division in preparing a detailed budget for the renovations proposed for the JOC/CP. Additionally, the group conducted an on-site visit of the JOC/CP and provided options to amend the current proposal in order to reduce the costs of the renovation while meeting requirements concerning security, communications, and operational purposes.

The group also toured several Olympic venue sites including the Olympic Village wherein the athletes and coaches will be housed, the University of Utah Eccles Stadium wherein both the opening and closing ceremonies will be held, the Utah Winter Sports Park, and the Deer Valley ski resort.

2002 WINTER OLYMPIC GAMES
SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH
PFO-SEM
MAJOR CASE 159

Synopsis: To provide information regarding a presentation given to Greek Olympic officials in Athens, Greece, April 14-20, 2000.

Administrative: Reference EC from Legat Athens dated 1/01/2000 requesting assistance for [redacted] regarding the 2004 Summer Olympic Games.

Enclosure(s): The agenda for the Greek presentation including issues, presenters, and goals.

Details: In 2004, the Summer Olympic Games will be hosted by Athens, Greece. The Greek Government and [redacted] in preparing for the event, have requested assistance in Olympic security planning and counterterrorism training to ensure the success of the Games. The large number of athletes, visitors and dignitaries present during the Olympics presents a challenge for law enforcement and security planners attempting to provide reasonable safety. Moreover, as had occurred during the 1972 Munich and 1996 Atlanta Games, the Olympic Games are also a target for terrorist attacks. Exacerbating this situation is the fact that Greece is located close to a number of areas currently experiencing conflict and terrorism, such as the Balkans and the Middle East, making the issue of counterterrorism and security even more important.

The United States will be sending over 500 athletes to Athens for the Olympics. Also in attendance will be a large number of American visitors and officials. Therefore, it is in the United States' best interests that they will be reasonably safe from a terrorist attack during this time.

Salt Lake City has made substantial progress in its planning for Olympic security and counterterrorism in preparation for the 2002 Winter Olympic Games. Due to prior interaction between the FBI and [REDACTED]

It is anticipated that [REDACTED] participants from the FBI will be in attendance to give presentations: SSA [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] additional members will attend from the Utah Olympic Public Safety Command: [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] The topics that will be covered will be security planning, intelligence, logistics, Olympic Security Planning process, et cetera.

It is therefore requested that the International Relations Branch coordinate with Legat Athens requesting necessary concurrence and agreement pertaining to proposed agenda and dates for this Training. It is also requested that Legat Athens obtain an itinerary from [REDACTED] for this presentation and forward to SSA [REDACTED] in the Salt Lake City Division.

[redacted] - as we discussed, here are the topics we propose for the Greek Olympic meeting. We have also included an estimate for which sessions would be conducted on which days, and by whom. Our assumption is that we are planning for a five day meeting and that the desired outcome is to help Greek Olympic security personnel examine their approaches to securing the 2004 Summer Games. The basic format for each two hour session would be as follows:

- What is the topic?
- Why it is important
- How it has been handled in past events
- Options available
- Pros and cons
- Recommendations
- Questions and answers

Please contact me if you would like additional information about any of these topics.

Synopsis: Equipment necessary to network the computer terminals at the Social Hall Plaza office space.

Details: Salt Lake City (SU) requests that IRD provide equipment necessary to establish data communication links between the Field Office and the Joint Olympic Task Force (JOTF). The Task Force is located at the Social Hall Plaza, separate from the SUFO.

SU recently took possession of thirty computer terminals to support a squad relocation to the JOTF. This equipment was requested by SSA [REDACTED]

It is anticipated that as many as ninety terminals will eventually be necessary at the offsite to support the FBI during the Olympics. Due to the complexity of the project, TM [REDACTED] has been in close contact with TSU to provide WAN design and support equipment. However, since the inception of this project, budgetary shifts toward the Information Sharing Initiative (ISI) have rendered equipment requests to the field impossible to fill.

Details: Salt Lake City requests that [redacted] and [redacted]
[redacted] travel to Salt Lake City on March 15, 2000 through March 20, 2000, for the purpose of visiting the various Olympic venues. In addition to surveying the venues, they should plan on meeting with Olympic Security personnel and US West Communications regarding fiber optic transmission from the various venue sites to the FBI Olympic Command Center.

b6
b7C

Salt Lake City will attempt to schedule the venue site visits based upon the availability of time. It is important that [redacted] and [redacted] visit these venues when there is 5-6 feet of snow covering the ground as the sites are very different during the spring, summer or fall.

[redacted] and other elements of Greek government and law enforcement.

b7D

At the request of Athens, SSA [redacted] traveled to Athens in November 1999 and provided an initial major event security and safety briefing for the Greeks.

b6
b7C

Salt Lake and Athens coordinated a tentative, follow-up training module for the Greeks originally planned to be presented in April 2000. An enclosure to re EC set forth this proposed Olympic security briefing and training module.

A third part of this proposed plan was to have Greek police officers seconded to the Salt Lake Olympic task force during the planning and preparations for the 2002 Olympic Games to be held in Salt Lake City.

The April training presentation was planned to be given by members of the Salt Lake office of the FBI and the Utah Olympic Public Safety Command (UOPSC). It was to be a week-long program which was to focus on counter terrorism and security planning and preparation. Salt Lake planned to send 5 participants from the FBI and 4 participants from the UOPSC. Athens arranged for a representative(s) of the Diplomatic Security Service to participate.

Recently Athens was advised by IOS and the International Training that there is no funding with which to support this proposal in its present form.

In a meeting on 3/9/00, between Athens Legal Attache and [redacted]

b7D

After expressing great disappointment at the inability of the FBI to support this proposal, Legal Attache Athens suggested alternative dates. Due to the Greek elections and the current planning for many of the Greek government and law enforcement olympic principals to be in Sydney, it appears that the only alternative date open is early November 2000.

Athens believes that there are at least two benefits to this time frame. The FBI may have sufficient funds to support this proposal and Diplomatic Security(DS) will have at least one Agent on the ground in Salt Lake by the summer of 2000. In conjunction with Legat coordination with the Regional Security Officer in Athens, the presence of a DS Agent in Salt Lake will ensure that the equities of DS will be recognized and addressed in the final outline of the proposed training.

To: Criminal Investigative From: Athens

But the FBI needs to commit to this process in the near-term. By taking the lead in a coordinated and well-planned inter-agency effort, and utilizing the experiences of the FBI and other US law enforcement agencies in the Olympic planning process, the counter terrorism and security equities of the US government at the 2004 Summer Olympic games would be addressed in a timely manner.

Greece is a high security threat area and, at times in the past two years, has been designated a critical threat level area due to terrorism related issues. This has not changed. The war in Kosovo demonstrated the deep seated ambivalence of the Greeks toward many foreign policy objectives of the United States government.

As it appears that the projected April presentation dates are not feasible, Athens requests that IOS coordinate this matter with ITU, SEMU, Salt Lake City and the Terrorism Section and advise Athens by COB 5/1/00 whether this proposal can and will be funded. Athens projects that the costs associated with the one-week course of training conducted by 8 or 9 individuals will approximate DS at this time can be expected to separately fund its personnel.

b7D
b7E

If this proposal cannot be funded, Athens suggests that be advised accordingly and in a timely manner to preclude any unreasonable expectations on the part of the police with regard to planning support which can be provided by the FBI.

Athens would like to express sincere appreciation for the assistance and participation of Salt Lake City in this matter. Without the participation of SSA much of what limited success that has been achieved to date would not have occurred.

3. SA [] ATF, full time Olympic planner, briefed the current EOD plan supporting captioned event. Sarnacki advised that EOD plan is fluid and would evolve over the next 2 years.

Comment: Upon arrival of SA [] it is anticipated that EOD plan will receive more guidance and direction the FBI. Currently a solid working relationship does not exist between the FBI and EOD Olympic planning. SA [] advised that the Authority Housed Jurisdiction will be assisted, not replaced in regard to EOD response. This means that any EOD response will be jurisdictionally based rather than event driven.

b6
b7C

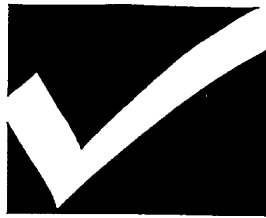

4. Lt. [] briefed the results of Atlanta trip to observe Super Bowl and advised that Planning Groups is looking at a number of systems to be used at the OCC for Incident Tracking/Management to include RAMS demonstrated at Super Bowl.

Comment: UOPSC is soliciting money on part of 5.4 million FY 2001 request for this project. This is clearly an example where federal law enforcement (FBI, USSS) and EMA should have opportunity to review this request and have appropriate input because of the NSSE responsibilities associated with these respective agencies.

Comment: EOD response for this event far exceeds the where withal of any jurisdiction, especially when there only is Bomb Techs in the State of Utah. The Special Bomb Management Center will control all response and this event need to be event driven! [] will handle with help from HQ, BDC.

Commissioner Dearden addressed the Planning Committee. They are currently working with the legislature and SLOC to obtain money to cover Public Safety costs. They should have some more information when the legislative session ends on March 1st.

[] presented the EOD Integrated Plan Review (IPR). The mission of the EOD subcommittee will be to insure the safety of all persons and property during the operational period of the Olympics and Paralympics from B-NICE hazards (biological, nuclear, incendiary, chemical, and explosive). Their function will be to prevent, respond, remove or render safe any of these hazards. They will also assist the local jurisdictions with investigations. There will be eight areas of EOD operations which include the Bomb Management Center, Vehicle Sanitation, Site Sweeps, Stationary Evaluation Teams, Diagnostic Teams, Canine Teams, Render Safe Teams, and Investigations. There will be an EOD presence at all of the venues and in the communities. b6

[] gave the Intelligence Briefing. He provided the following staffing update for the Center for Intelligence Collection, Analysis, and Distribution (CICAD): [] Coordinator; [] Legal Advisor; and [] Risk Management Coordinator. Their future part time staff may include [] from the Salt Lake City Police Department, a P.O.S.T. certified arson investigator from the Salt Lake City Fire Department, an analyst from ATF, and an analyst from the Salt Lake County Sheriff's Office. He discussed several pamphlets and protests that have already occurred. They would like to coordinate the site visits with the venue commanders, SLOC, and the site managers. They will publish a list of the site visits as they are arranged. [] phone number is []

[] presented the RAMS Brief. The Responder Asset Management System (RAMS) was used by Atlanta during the Olympics and the Super Bowl. [] advised that they are looking at modules for scheduling, time keeping, and certification to be used during the 2002 Olympics. They are compiling a list of CAD operators from the seven county area to be integrated with the scheduling module. Salt Lake City, Knoxville, Wichita, Baltimore, and Atlanta have been selected as RAMS test site cities. They met with Chief Gordon from the Atlanta Police Department. He is using the time keeping module for their Technical Services Division. [] advised that he had the opportunity to witness security preparations for the Super Bowl while he was in Atlanta. He observed security, dignitary protection, traffic, and transit. b6

[] presented an overview on Fiscal Issues. He reviewed the estimated public safety costs for Law Enforcement, Fire, and EMS, sources for additional support, the risk profile for the Olympics, resource strategies, and expected sources of revenue.

[] and [] discussed Fire and EMS Issues. They reviewed several of the factors that will affect their plan and budget estimates such as National Standards, Federal and State Statutes, Local Ordinances, and Sports Federations. There is an agreement between the agencies that they will not rent or exchange apparatus at cost. Fire and EMS 2002 and SLOC are working together to make sure that the venues are properly staffed. The responsibility of SLOC medical will be operating a polyclinic in the village and first aid stations at the venues. Fire and EMS will assist SLOC medical, provide advanced life support care in the venues, and take over in the event of a mass casualty incident. They also presented their venue model plan.

State Olympic Public Safety Planning Committee Meeting Minutes-2/9/00
Page 4

[] and [] from the DTN Weather Services gave a presentation on the Storm Sentry System. This is a real time weather system that the Planning Committee is considering using during the games. They are able to deliver weather data by utilizing a satellite, Internet, Intranet, pager, modem or fax. Their proposal for the 2002 Olympics is to provide a weather link to the Olympic web site. Several other options would be networking the data, having stand-alone computers at each venue site, receiving weather notification updates through pagers, and custom meteorologist briefs. They gave a demonstration of radar and satellite imagery from the Storm Sentry program. b6
b7C

[] presented the Planning Process Update. He reviewed charts on what has been accomplished since June of 1995, the 14 major projects for the Planning Committee, Subcommittees, Other Olympic Projects, and the Transition Phase. He passed out a glossary of Public Safety and Olympic terms and acronyms.

The following agency report was presented:

- Salt Lake City Police Department, [] — They met with the head of their police association to discuss labor issues such as winter wear, meals, shifts, part-time work, vacation and holiday use, and training. They will also be meeting with the civilian labor group. b6
b7C

An election was held to fill the position of co-chairman recently vacated by Larry Stott. [] was unanimously nominated and elected as the new co-chairman of the Planning Committee.

Lloyd Evans advised that he has received a request for Planning Committee membership from SLOC. This item will be placed on the agenda for the Planning Committee meeting in April. Lloyd will forward a copy of this request to the Planning Committee members for review.

The next Planning Committee meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, April 12, 2000 at 8:30 at the Airport Training Facility.

Meeting adjourned at 1120 hours.

Background

In the Winter of 2002 the world will focus its gaze upon the State of Utah as the 2002 Olympic Winter Games and the 2002 Paralympic Winter Games showcase the top winter sports athletes in the world. These Games will represent the first Olympics of the new Millenium.

The Olympic Games will attract 3,500 athletes and officials representing 80 nations and draw some 9,000 accredited media representatives from around the world. The Games will also be broadcast to over 3 billion people around the world. It is anticipated that on a daily basis 70,000 spectators will fill the seats of the various competition venues. In addition to the scores of spectators and media representatives, the Games will also attract over 11,000 Olympic Officials who comprise the Olympic Family.

The Paralympics will attract 1,100 athletes and officials representing up to 40 nations, and approximately 1,700 media representatives. In the past, events of the Paralympics have not been broadcast, however, SLOC plans to make the competition broadcast feeds available to accredited broadcasters.

The Olympic and Paralympic Games represent a high concentration of foreign nationals coupled with massive media coverage. The competitions and related events provide a unique target for any group seeking publicity through terrorist type activity. This vulnerability has been demonstrated at previous Olympic events (Munich '72, Atlanta '96), which has elevated security planning to the forefront of Olympic planning. The expected overwhelming influx of national and international visitors to Utah during the Games necessitates additional resources and personnel in order to ensure public safety. Therefore, the resources of the Federal government are paramount.

Public Safety Command

Olympic and Paralympic activities will be spread along the Wasatch Front crossing a number of public safety jurisdictional lines. In order to avoid duplication of efforts and to consolidate all of the public safety resources Utah has to offer, the state legislature passed a law creating the Utah Olympic Public Safety Command. The Mission of the Command is two-fold:

- To ensure the safety and security of the Olympic and Paralympic Games
- To focus both on venues and communities

In order to achieve its mission, the command operates under the philosophy: "One Plan, One Partnership, One Agency".

The Command is comprised of a number of local, state and federal agencies, along with the Salt Lake Organizing Committee, charged with security and public safety planning for the Olympic Games. Currently the following federal departments and agencies are actively working as part of the command's planning process.

Department of Justice
U.S. Secret Service
Department of Defense

US Customs Service
Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco & Firearms

Federal Bureau of Investigation
FEMA
Department of Treasury
US Forest Service
Federal Aviation Administration

Under the state law, the head of the Utah Department of Public Safety serves as Chairman of the Command and officials from a number of public safety agencies comprise the executive board. The SLOC Security Director also serves on the board. In order to manage the various issues, the Command has developed 26 Sub-Committees that will report to the board on their respective planning progress. The federal representatives on the board are the FBI, ATF and, the Secret Service.

FY01 Appropriation Request

The Bureau of Justice Assistance (BJA) has provided grants to the Command in previous years to develop and support a public safety master plan for the games. The planning efforts will move into implementation in FY01, since most equipment, facilities or other infrastructure required for the Games must be put in place during the summer of 2001.

The Command is seeking [redacted] in FY01 to initiate implementation of the security and public safety plan for the 2002 Olympic Games. This request does not cover those resources the Command expects the federal government will provide either through their statutory missions related to the Games, through the resources of the Department of Defense and the General Services Administration, or through other agencies that may assume roles due to the unique public safety requirements of the Olympics. The Command assumes that adequate funding will be available in the revolving Support for International Sporting Competitions Account at DoD to meet approved requests submitted through proper channels.

SUBJECT: 2002 WINTER OLYMPIC GAMES
SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH

Salt Lake City will be hosting the 2002 Winter Olympic and Paralympic Games in February and March 2002. The Olympics are a high profile event involving a large number of international spectators, athletes, and diplomats. The Games have been designated as a National Security Special Event (NSSE), thereby giving the FBI lead federal agency authority over intelligence, counter-terrorism, crisis management, and hostage rescue during the Olympic Games.

The high international profile of the Games makes the 2002 Winter Games vulnerable to a terrorist attack. As observed in the 1972 Munich and 1996 Atlanta Olympic Games, as well as the riots and violence that took place during the 1999 WTO Conference in Seattle, this threat is real and demonstrate the need for timely intelligence and analysis. Further, the arson at the Vail Ski resort prior to the World Skiing Championships in 1998 illustrates the impact and possibility of terrorist acts prior to the event.

To better prepare for these types of threats, the Salt Lake City Division FBI is preparing a terrorism threat analysis that will be updated on a quarterly basis.

It is requested that your agency disseminate to our office any information or intelligence that may impact on the security of the Salt Lake City Winter Olympic Games and that can assist us in preparing the aforementioned threat assessment.

- 9 - Total amount requested.
- 10 - Enter a brief justification for expense or advance requested. Indicate multiple cases benefitted by asset/information/CW payment if applicable. For Field Office Use Only: A justification memorandum must be completed for informant/asset/CW expenses and placed in the applicable informant/asset/CW file, maintained in the field office.
- 11 - Check the proper answer to indicate if the requested expense is reimbursable as asset forfeiture related or as a payment for drug information.
- 12 - Your name.
- 13 - Your telephone number or extension.

APPROVAL:

- 14 - Each request should be reviewed by the employee's direct supervisor, who should initial the form to indicate review. Confidential expenses must be approved by signature of an ASAC or above. Expense/Advance requests for the purchase of supplies or equipment must be approved by the Supply Technician prior to payment. Commercial expenses must be approved by signature of an AOSM or above prior to payment. The Draft Approval Officer may approve commercial expenses under $50.00. Indicate the name of the FBIHQ procurement officer and telephonic authorization number (T- number), if appropriate. All advances and expenses must be approved by the Draft Approval Officer, who will complete the following parts of this form:

APPROVAL OFFICER:

- 15 - Vendor Number and Vendor Group Number.
- 16 - Classify the expense using Catalog Number (CAT) and Item Number.
- 17 - Obligation number if an advance is issued.
- 18 - Your cost center.
- 19 - Squad/RA code, if applicable.
- 20 - Follow-up date for advance liquidation.

DRAFT CASHIER:

- 21 - Document Number assigned to this transaction.
- 22 - Check if this transaction is confidential (CONF) or commercial (COMM).
- 23 - Draft Number.
- 24 - Date issued.
- 25 - Cashier initials.
- 26 - Enter advance settlement information when receipts are presented and the matching expense transaction is entered. If a supplemental draft is issued, complete blocks 27 to 30.
- 27 - Document Number issued to this transaction.
- 28 - Draft Number.
- 29 - Date issued.
- 30 - Cashier initials.

Dear Louis,

Thank you so much for taking the time to visit this morning with Mitt Romney and Craig Dearden about the preparations for the 2002 Winter Olympics in Salt Lake City.

I believe that the Salt Lake Games have the potential to be among the best Olympics ever.

I sincerely appreciate all you have done and are doing to assist us in this endeavor. If there is anything I can do to facilitate your mission, please let me know.

Warmest personal regards,

Orrin G. Hatch

Dear [Redacted]

We are pleased to announce our recent move to the American Stores Building at 299 South Main Street in downtown Salt Lake City. This move will provide SLOC and our various partners a more centralized office and planning space within a single building.

In order to continue the opportunity for you and your staff to meet with various Organizing Committee staff, new building access procedures are outlined below:

- Visitor parking is available in the American Stores Building parking lot.
- Parking validation may be obtained from the security reception desk on the 13th floor.
- Security offices are temporarily located on the 12th floor. Our permanent move to the 14th floor is scheduled within the next two to three weeks.
- Our main reception and security desk is located on the 13th floor.
- Our telephone numbers remain the same.
- E-mail is changed to na@saltlake2002.com.

For those members of your staff who have a frequent or recurring need for access to our offices during normal business hours, an access card will be authorized and provided. Please submit a list of those persons you authorize to receive the card. The list should contain the individual's name, agency of employment and a contact telephone number and be submitted to [Redacted] Salt Lake Organizing Committee, PO Box 45002, Salt Lake City, UT 84111-0002, or e-mail to [Redacted]

b6
b7c

Those persons who may have an infrequent need to enter the building may report to the security desk on the 13th floor and be issued a temporary badge for day access.

Thanks for your assistance in this matter. Let me know if you have questions or if I may help in any way.

Sincerely,

[Redacted]
Director of Security

Utahns get a primer on security

Safety planners go to Sydney to learn about terrorism, more

By Jennifer Dobner

Deseret News staff writer

Like underclassmen given tips and trade secrets from those a few grades ahead, members of Utah's Olympic Public Safety Command have been getting valuable advice about their specialty — security — during a visit to Sydney, home of the 2000 Summer Games.

Among the lessons: officer training, venue staffing and accreditation, transportation — and terrorism.

"It's been quite valuable," Craig Dearden, command director and Utah Department of Public Safety commissioner, said by telephone from Australia, where he and other Utahns have been attending a conference on such subjects. "We're looking at some of their plans and will bring back some information about what they are doing so that we don't have to start from scratch."

In particular, Dearden and the command don't want to have to reinvent a plan for responding to acts of terrorism.

Terrorism became a very real part of the Olympic Games in September 1972 in Munich when Arab guerrillas attacked the Israeli delegation. Eleven Israelis, five guerrillas and a police officer were killed in the siege. Then in 1996, one woman was killed and more than 120 people were injured when a bomb exploded in Centennial Park during the 1996 Games in Atlanta.

No one wants to see that happen again, but it was on the minds of reporters at a press conference held by the New South Wales police in Sydney.

Ed Hula of the "Around the Rings" Olympic newsletter asked Dearden for his reaction to reports that the FBI had scaled back its search for Eric Rudolph, the anti-abortion activist who is believed to have bombed a Birmingham, Ala., women's clinic and is also charged in connection with the Centennial Park bombing.

300 A-SU-43750-291

in sub A. Ser 901

"I don't really know if they have, in fact, scaled it back," Dearden said. "But I'm concerned that in the next two years a lot of things can happen. The whole world situation can change. We could end up finding Eric Rudolph and then have other things come up.

"He's not the only thing there is to worry about."

He's right about that, Salt Lake FBI acting special agent in charge Steve Tidwell said.

With the "speed of light" rapidity of modern technology and the number of reporters that gather at Olympic events, the Games are a perfect stage for acts of domestic or international terrorism or for simply making a world statement, Tidwell notes.

"It is certainly real and requires vigilance by law enforcement," he said. "That's why, three years out (from the 2002 Games) you see the public safety command out doing everything they can to make for a safe Olympics."

Domestic terrorism in general — and especially efforts to prevent it — has become a high priority for law enforcement agencies on the federal, state and local levels, Tidwell said.

"The face of domestic terrorism changed drastically the day that the Oklahoma City bombing occurred, as evidenced by the efforts of federal, state and local officials around the Y2K rollover time," Tidwell said.

As for the Rudolph investigation, an FBI official in Washington, D.C., said Friday that the investigative approach has been changed but not scaled back. SWAT teams are no longer combing the mountainous North Carolina wilderness where Rudolph is thought to be hiding, but agents continue to follow up leads, spokesman Jim Davis said.

"There is no change in his status as one of our 10 most wanted list," Davis said. "He is still a very high priority."

In addition to the 21 command members from Utah in Sydney, another 60 security representatives from future Olympic cities, such as Athens, are also on hand. Command members will return to Utah later this week and then a smaller team will return to Sydney during the Games in September to actually work at some of the venues and get some hands-on experience, Dearden said.

After seeing all 41 of Sydney's event venues and public gathering places and hearing about the security plans made by the New South Wales police force, which will oversee the Games, Dearden said he is feeling good about the plans already being made for the 2002 Games.

"They've been very open with us, really willing to share information," Dearden said. "It's been really good to hear the process that they've been through. What I'm hearing makes me think that we're exactly where we need to be in terms of planning, although I think it would be nice to add a few more people to the planning process."

Dear [Redacted]

Thank you for your recent letters requesting use of specific areas on the 5th floor of the Social Hall Building. The FBI has discussed your request with representatives of the Utah Olympic Public Safety Command (UOPSC). They have advised as follows:

UOPSC has agreed to provide all the spaces requested in your letter dated March 3, 2000. Specifically, DTRA will have use of room 502 and the east half of room 503 for a decontamination/shower facility. Room 505 will be reserved entirely for the air-handling units to be installed by DTRA. Additionally, the five-foot by five-foot area in the southwest corner of corridor 586-K will be made available if required. However, the most recent discussions between DTRA representatives and the mechanical engineer have determined that the 5-ton Liebert system will be secured in the plenum area.

Your letter dated April 4, 2000 requested room 546 or a similar suitable space for the Consequence Assessment Center (CAC). A review of the floor plan with UOPSC determined that room 546 is not available, however, room 545 is available and will be reserved for use by the CAC.

Sincerely yours,

Title: HAZARDOUS MATERIALS RESPONSE UNIT (HMRU)
PREPARATIONS FOR SUPPORT OF
THE 2002 WINTER OLYMPIC GAMES
IN SALT LAKE CITY, UT

Synopsis: At the request of Salt Lake City, HMRU has been actively involved in planning its support to Salt Lake City during the 2002 Winter Olympic Games. This EC will provide an overview of HMRU's involvement to date.

Enclosure(s): Ten (10) charts pertaining to HMRU support for the 2002 Winter Olympic Games in Salt Lake City, UT.

b7C

Details: HMRU began planning in July 1999, to determine support requirements for the 2002 Winter Olympic Games. On 07/28/1999, SSA [REDACTED] (HMRU/Operations Program) and [REDACTED] (HMRU/Response and Training Program) attended a WMD Table Top Exercise hosted at the FBI Academy, Quantico, VA. The participants consisted of representatives from the Utah Olympic Public Safety Command (UOPSC), Department of Defense (DOD), local and state agencies from the Salt Lake City, UT area and FBIHQ representatives from the Weapons of Mass Destruction Operations Unit and the Special Events Management Unit. For information of recipients, UOPSC is the organization responsible for development and execution of a security plan for the 2002 Winter Olympics.

FBI Salt Lake City requested that HMRU examine WMD issues pertaining to the 2002 Winter Games and make appropriate recommendations concerning the development of an integrated and comprehensive plan to address these issues. To that end, HMRU and United States Secret Service, Technical Security Division (USSS-TSD) personnel have attended multiple conferences and planning meetings in Washington, D.C. and Salt Lake City, UT to establish the infrastructure necessary to ensure a seamless multi-agency response to a WMD threat or actual event during the 2002 Winter Games. To accomplish this, HMRU and USSS-TSD personnel have become an integral part of two multi-agency working groups (WMD Focus Group and the Federal-State Laboratory Working Group). These groups identified resources at the local, state, and federal level that could be applied toward the resolution of potential WMD threats during the Olympic Games.

From October 1999, until present, HMRU and USSS-TSD personnel have traveled to Salt Lake City, UT on six occasions to assist FBI Salt Lake City in establishment of an operational template incorporating local, state and federal agencies to ensure that a viable support and response structure is in place to effectively deal with an incident involving hazardous material(s) or WMD during the 2002 Olympic Winter Games. One trip to Salt Lake City, UT was specifically for the purpose of conducting initial site surveys of the Delta Center in Salt Lake City and of the Olympic venues in Park City and Heber City, UT. HMRU personnel require access to the venues in Provo and Ogden, UT to complete surveys for those areas. Coordination will be made with Salt Lake City Division to identify dates when HMRU can gain access to the venues in Provo and Ogden, UT for the completion of site surveys.

It is the intent of HMRU to complete the majority of the planning and coordination for the Games regarding their involvement with the WMD Focus Group and the State/Federal Lab Working Group during the week of 04/24-28/2000. After 04/28/2000, HMRU will continue to be involved with these groups in preparations for the Games but intends to do this via written and telephonic communications to the extent possible. This will limit travel to Salt Lake City, UT by HMRU personnel unless a requirement to do so is articulated by Salt Lake City Division. Furthermore, it will enable HMRU staff to focus their attention on plans for other special events (OPSAIL, Republican National Convention, Democratic National Convention) requiring their attention.

The first meeting of the WMD Focus Group was convened in Salt Lake City on 10/20/1999. This group provided an opportunity for local jurisdictions affected by the Olympics, to interact with the FBI and its Federal partners that have crisis response and consequence management responsibilities during WMD events. Attendees collaborate in table top exercises to ascertain the capabilities of local jurisdictions to counter WMD events and to specify which Federal agencies would support and enhance their capabilities. Since December 1999, there has been a monthly meeting of the WMD Focus Group in Salt Lake City, UT. Up to this time, participation by HMRU and USSS-TSD has been critical in articulating to local and state agencies how the FBI and USSS integrate with local jurisdictions to compliment their organic capabilities without undermining their authority or jurisdiction. Current participants in this group include: Salt Lake City FBI, FBI-HMRU, USSS-TSD, Salt Lake City Fire Department (SLCFD), Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory (LLNL), Los Alamos National Laboratory (LANL), Oak Ridge Institute for Science and Education (ORISE), Utah Department of Health (DOH), DOD, U.S. Army Director of Support (DOMS), Utah National Guard, Utah National Guard Civil Support Team (formerly RAID) and UOPSC. During the initial meeting of the WMD Focus Group, there were significant concerns expressed by Salt Lake City FBI, HMRU and USSS-TSD regarding a proposal by LLNL to field several biological detectors using unproven and non-validated technology in the various venue sites during the Olympic Games. The concern over LLNL's proposal coupled with the need to identify and coordinate all agencies and organizations that are planning on deploying some form of scientific support during the 2002 Olympic Games spawned the creation of the Federal/State Lab Work Group.

The Federal/State Lab Work Group was hosted by the Utah Department of Health and held its first meeting on 02/10/2000 at the Canon Health Building, 288 North 1460 West in Salt Lake City, UT. There were twenty-eight attendees representing FBI Salt Lake City, FBI-HMRU, USSS-TSD, Centers for Disease Control (CDC), Defense Threat Reduction Agency (DTRA), Defense Group, Inc. (DGI), Utah Department of Health (UDOH), Dugway Proving Ground (DPG), Director of Military Support (DOMS), LANL and LLNL. SSA [redacted] Biology Program/HMRU provided an overview of the laboratory capabilities of the FBI for the 2002 Olympic Games which included discussion of HMRU's Fly-Away Laboratory and the National Public Health Laboratory Network that were established through collaboration between FBI-HMRU, CDC and the U.S. Department of Health. Following this, representatives from CDC, DOD, DTRA, DOE, DPG, USSS-TSD and UDOH gave brief descriptions of their laboratory capabilities and assets that would be positioned to support the Games. It was agreed that the State/Federal Lab Working Group would meet on the last Monday of each month (one day prior to the WMD Focus Group meeting). This permits Federal/State Lab Work Group and WMD Focus Group participants to keep abreast of significant developments within each group.

The meeting of the State/Federal Lab Working Group on 02/10/2000 succeeded in identification of agency roles and responsibilities and integration of laboratory support with the Public Safety and Public Health communities. There was discussion concerning distinguishing between laboratory analysis of samples for investigative purposes versus Public Health assessments. The remainder of the meeting focused on DOE's (LLNL and LANL) proposals for the emplacement and monitoring of biological Detection and Surveillance Units (DSUs) at the Olympic venues. DOE's overall plans consisted of placing up to fifty (50) DSUs at various Olympic venues with the information coming from them continuously monitored at computer terminals installed at one or multiple command posts. Theoretically, the DSUs would actively monitor the air at each venue and capture samples of particulates on internal filters as well as record the particle count at each DSU to assist in identification of unusually high particle count readings above the normal background readings for each venue. The filters must be collected by a technician and transported to a DOE laboratory for analysis using CDC PCR protocols to determine the presence of Anthrax or Plague. DOE acknowledged that background particle count samples had been taken for some of the venues but that a great deal of this remained to be done.

In the opinion of the FBI, USSS and UDOH, the usefulness of the particle counters is highly suspect given the particle size that the DSUs screen for (1-10 micron range). Additionally, it is extremely unlikely that this feature would be useful in providing useful information to the technician monitoring the particle counts until after laboratory analysis of a filter confirmed the presence of one of the two agents. DOE was unable to allay the apprehension expressed by the FBI, USSS, Public Safety and UDOH regarding several issues pertaining to the use of the DSUs during the 2002 Olympic Games. Paramount among these was DOE's reliance on scientifically unproven or non-validated technology for monitoring an area for the presence or absence of the two Bio-Warfare agents they have decided to test for. DOE's insistence on the use of these non-validated technologies could force local, state and federal crisis management assets to respond to any false positives generated by their system.

On 02/24/2000, the State/Federal Lab Working Group met without representatives from DOE. The objective of this meeting was to discern the requirements that DOE would have to comply with to assuage concerns of the FBI, USSS, and UDOH prior to the fielding of their proposed biological monitoring system. Their trepidations were transcribed and sent to DOE for further clarification. On 04/24/2000, DOE will present a briefing to review these concerns. It is anticipated that a decision will be made regarding the employment of the DSUs following DOE's presentation.

On 3/29/2000, SSA [redacted] addressed HMRU's operational plan for supporting FBI Salt Lake City during the 2002 Winter Games (details of this briefing outlined in enclosures to this EC). This plan consisted of dividing the entire Olympic area into four separate sectors. These sectors are delineated below and duplicate those established by the FBI Tactical elements supporting the 2002 Winter Games:

b6
b7c

Sector one: Salt Lake City, UT
Sector two: Park City/Heber City, UT
Sector three: Ogden, UT
Sector four: Provo, UT

It is HMRU's goal to coordinate HMRU led Field Office Hazmat Response Team personnel to provide coverage for each of the four sectors. The HMRU/HMRT personnel responsible for responding to Provo, UT will be physically located in Salt Lake City. Another standalone component that will be staged in Salt Lake City, UT in the vicinity of the University, is the HMRU's Fly-Away Laboratory. This lab will be co-located with the Utah Department of Health and the DOE laboratory. The total personnel attached to the FAL will include approximately seventeen scientists, eight personnel from the DOE Nuclear/Radiological Assessment Team (N/RAT), and six personnel from the DOE Joint Technical Operations Team II (JTOT II). The attached enclosures illustrate the number of HMRU personnel and vehicles that will be needed in each sector during the 2002 Winter Olympic Games.

In addition to the Hazmat Response Teams, there will be one Joint Hazardous Materials Response Team (JHAT) in each of the four sectors. The JHAT will consist of one HMRU Team Leader (SSA), one USSS-TSD representative, one local Fire Service Hazmat technician and if possible, a local police officer. The JHAT will be mobile within their assigned sector and will serve as the "eyes and ears" to their respective command elements located at the Olympic Command Center, Multi-Agency Coordinating Center, Emergency Operations Centers, etc. The JHAT will be equipped with basic protective and analytical equipment for conducting a rapid on-site Chem/Bio assessment. The results of this assessment will be forwarded to the Olympic Command Center along with recommendations from the appropriate JHAT representatives so that appropriate courses of action can be made based on the information provided. JHATs have been recently been employed using the template described above during the NATO 50th Anniversary Celebration, Washington, D.C. and the 3rd Ministerial Meeting of the World Trade Organization, Seattle, Washington. Plans are in place to utilize JHATs during OPSAIL in Norfolk, VA, and the Republican and Democratic National Conventions.

March 16, 2000

Louis J. Freeh
Director Federal Bureau of Investigation
Department of Justice
Washington DC 20535

Dear Director Freeh:

I want to thank you for so generously taking time with me, Senator Hatch, and other members of the Salt Lake City team to discuss the upcoming Winter Olympic Games of 2002. Your knowledgeability and perspectives on our preparations for security and anti-terrorism were remarkable. Clearly, our community relies on the commitment and expertise of your organization and I personally came away feeling very comfortable with that reliance.

It was also an honor to meet someone whose personal demeanor is so characterized by integrity. The country, as well as the Bureau, have every reason to be proud of your leadership.

I've enclosed a photo from our last Christmas card to show you what happens to a house full of little boys when they grow up. As you can see, two of mine are married and one couple has already brought us a granddaughter. The advent of a female birth should give you hope that someday a little girl can push her way through all the male chromosomes.

As I expressed when we were together, we are very appreciative of the work and resources devoted by the Bureau toward the 2002 Winter Games. In fact, I am frequently reminded of the quality of your team here in Salt Lake City [redacted] our Federal Relations Director who joined us in our meeting, reported that yesterday [redacted] had transformed an otherwise rudderless and frustrating meeting of multi-agency representatives into a meaningful and purposeful event.

b7C

I hope that if you find your way near Utah you might stop by so that we can show you the beauty of our Olympic venues. Then again, you might actually be closer to our cabin in New Hampshire: there's plenty of room for your boys and mine over at Lake Winnepesake.

Best regards,

OLYMPIC SPONSOR SECURITY MEETING
JUNE 24, 1999

Overview of Lessons Learned (Winter Olympics; Nagano 1998)

[] (FBI)

b6
b7c

1. Discussed the advantages of having key contacts within the Law Enforcement and Sponsor Security organizations from past Olympic games.
2. Identified plans that have proved advantageous and should be carefully considered/developed for the 2000 games, such as:
 - Communications (Network) Plan between SOCOG, NSW Police, Sponsor Security representatives, and U.S. State Department/Law Enforcement agencies,
 - Crisis Management Contingency Plans, and
 - Emergency Response Contingency Plans

Sponsor Security Observations/Lessons Learned

1. Sponsor Security Meeting conducted by NAOC proved beneficial. This meeting provided the sponsors an update on NAOC's Security Program and the Sponsor Security representatives the opportunity to communicate any "open" issues.
2. The receipt of timely information from the NAOC Operations/Control Center was inadequate. In addition, NAOC was very critical of what specific information, relating to a "problem," they would provide the sponsors.
3. Accreditation issues were a problem, both from a Security and VIP perspective. Sponsors observed inconsistencies in access privileges for accredited VIP's and vehicles.

Overview of Summer Olympics; Sydney 2000

b6
b7c

1. Accreditation [] provided an overview of the accreditation program, as it relates to Executive Protection/Security. [] indicated that any VIP security escort, not holding the proper credential and ticket, would be restricted to IOC waiting areas.
 - [] advised that the accreditation credentials are not transferable.
 - [] requested that sponsors submit, in writing to him, what access privileges they would require their security/executive protection personnel be authorized. [] would compile these requests, and submit them to SOCOG Management for approval.

2. Security Industry in Australia: [] informed everyone that currently there are 3-4 contract Security companies, which control approx. 80% of the industry, in Australia. As a result of the Olympics, the security market is very limited for resources.

Based on these limitations, only background checks and a basic training program will be provided to the SOCOG "Security" team volunteers. NOTE: Firearms are restricted to "police" personnel only.

3. Communications: [] indicated that during the games, all communications would be handled through the New South Wales Olympic Center.
4. Transportation: [] did indicate that traffic problems surrounding the venues could be an issue. The NSW Police (Bomb Squad) will be enforcing the sanitation requirements and performing random vehicle checks.
5. Venue Maps [] advised that he would provide a CAD diskette to the sponsors within the next six months. This disk(s) will contain each venue's layout.

Communications Call-Tree [] offered to establish a communications call-tree for sponsor security designated contacts. This call-tree would be limited to one contact per organization, and would be referenced by the NSW Police if an emergency situation occurred and Sponsor(s) would be required to be contacted.

2. Venue Organization: [] indicated that each venue would have a Venue Manager and Venue Commander.
- Venue Manager: Person who controls the operational issues of the venue.
 - Venue Commander: Person who is responsible for the security of the venue.

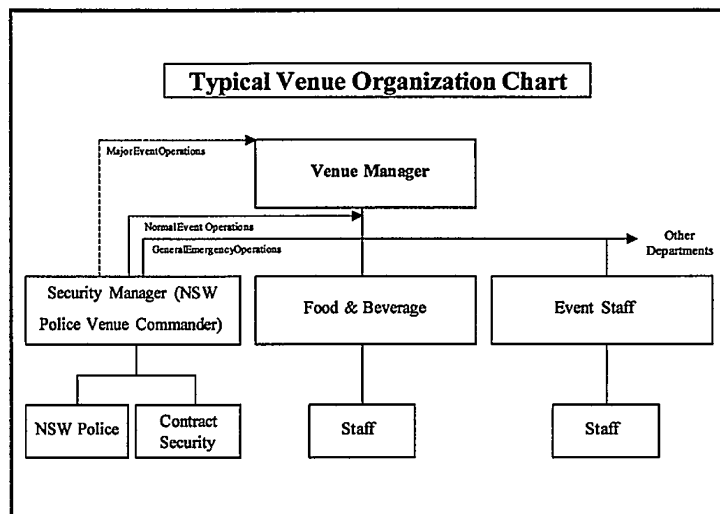

*OLYMPIC SPONSOR SECURITY MEETING
JUNE 24, 1999*

[] would follow-up to determine if a listing of the venue managers and commanders can be provided to the Sponsor Security representatives.

[] advised that if a fire or major medical incident occurred at any of the venues, then the Fire Department or Emergency Medical Services Incident Commander would have responsibility of the venue.

b6

[] provided us an overview on how each venue's organization will be structured (see chart below).

3. Airport Logistics: [] discussed the current process and an alternative process of getting VIP's, guests, and luggage through customs during the Olympics. []

b6

4. Criminal Offenses (i.e., controlled substances, drinking) [] and [] provided an overview of the process that will be followed if a U.S. citizen is arrested during the games.

b6
b7C
b7E

NOTE: [] (U.S. State Department) indicated that all U.S. citizens who have been arrested, should report this situation to the U.S. Consulate as soon as possible.

5. Terrorism Update: [] and [] will discuss this issue with []
The purpose of this issue is to provide the sponsor security representatives an update of any potential situations and the proactive strategies the NSW Police is establishing to prepare for any type of terrorism situation.

Sponsor Security Conference

Based on the consensus of everyone present, it was decided that the next Sponsor Security Conference/Workshop would be held in November 1999 in Sydney. [] [] confirmed that this time period would prove to be more beneficial since there are "test" Olympic events (see attached listing) occurring during this period, and more opportunity to observe the "Olympic" Security Program. [] will address the logistics and attendance of this meeting with the "local" Olympic Sponsor Security representatives. [] will confirm the meeting with everyone. NOTE: IBM has graciously offered to host this meeting.

U.S. State Department / Legal Attaché

[] (U.S. State Department – Diplomatic Security Service)

1. [] provided an overview of the roles and responsibilities of the State Department during the Olympics.
2. [] indicated that a possibility exists that there will be a presidential delegation attending the Olympics. The Secret Service will be responsible for this delegate. [] will provide us an update prior to the games as to any possible issues surrounding this visit.

*OLYMPIC SPONSOR SECURITY MEETING
JUNE 24, 1999*

3. [] also advised that liaison relationships have been established with hotel security associates in Sydney. If assistance is needed, please contact [] office.
4. [] suggested, as with any foreign travel, that the sponsors register their guests with the U.S. Consulate during their stay in Australia.
5. [] recommended that sponsors consider acquiring health insurance for their guests during their stay in the country.

b6
b7C

NOTE: [] provided everyone a copy of the U.S. Consulate's "Tips for Olympic Hosts of American Citizens." (See Attached)

[] (FBI - Sydney)

1. [] indicated that a 24-hour command post would be set-up at the U.S. Consulate during the games.
2. [] provided an overview of criminal activity in Australia:
 - Violent crime is low.
 - Petty crime is high, and will be a problem during the Olympics because of the high profile of the event.
 - Guests should be made aware of their surroundings. For example, [] indicated that caution should be exercised if guests plan to visit Kings Crossing or Bankstown.
3. [] referenced the shortcomings of EMS system. For example;
 - Due to the magnitude of this special event, expect response time to be delayed.
 - Sponsors should investigate the hospital network in Sydney, and determine their needs and select the most appropriate hospital to have any medical-related issues handled accordingly.

b6
b7C

[] and [] provided the following additional information on the EMS system:

- The ambulance services are under the State Health Authority.
- Paramedics will be on motorcycles, cutting down on the response time to medical emergencies.
- NSW Government will have a central location for emergency response purposes. This location will contain people and equipment to deal with multiple situations.

OLYMPIC SPONSOR SECURITY MEETING
JUNE 24, 1999

Action Items:

1. It was discussed and mutually agreed that a sub-committee is formed to address communications during the upcoming Olympics. Based on the consensus of the group, IBM, Coke, and SOCOG will evaluate the options available and submit their recommendations to everyone, including the financial commitments required by each sponsor/organization. Paul also advised that he was in the process of being information relative to communication devices, by Telstra, and that he would forward that information to John Hancock, who in turn will provide the information to all of the other sponsors.
2. During the Sponsor Security meeting, which is tentatively planned for November, [] advised that he would attempt to have the Venue Commanders attend this meeting. [] will confirm the meeting parameters (dates, time, attendees – including local representatives, etc.) and update everyone as soon as possible. IBM has offered to host this meeting.
3. [] (IBM) offered to explore the feasibility of establishing a dedicated website for sponsor security and law enforcement communications only.

Hopefully everything is going well. I've been reading (via newspapers) about the planning initiatives for 2002; it looks like you have your hands full. Enclosed are the conference notes from last year. I apologize for not getting them to you sooner. If you have any questions, please call me. Also, I'll be attending the NSW Security Conference with Barry next month. If you need anything discussed/addressed, let me know. I've also enclosed an article from the USA Today (2/15/00), that you'd find interesting (great news on our end). If you need anything, just let me know. I'll talk to you soon. Take Care.

Best Regards,
